

police log

Two area youths were caught drag racing late Saturday night on the 600 block of East College Avenue, State College Bureau of Police Services said. Jeffrey Ryver, 17, of Bellefonte, and Charles Zandt, 17, of Port Matilda, were cited for speeding and drag racing. Police said Ryver's vehicle was clocked at 86 mph and Zandt's at 68 mph.

A car was struck in a hit-and-run accident while in Parking Lot Red G. Joseph Delahout, 418 Sylvan Drive, reported yesterday, University Police Services said. No damage estimate was available.

Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, 321 E. Fairmount Ave., was reported broken into on the morning of Nov. 26. State College Bureau of Police Services said. Police said an unlocked window was entered, but nothing was reported missing.

Job market looks good despite crash

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The job outlook for college graduates is good despite the recent stock market crash, according to a Michigan State University recruiting survey.

Employers questioned after the crash said they plan to hire 3.8 percent more college graduates this year, with starting salaries for graduates with a bachelor's degree averaging $22,600, the survey by placement services at Michigan State found. That was down from 5.5 percent before the crash.

"Apparently the economy is more solid than reflected by 'Black Monday' and it did not shake the confidence of the employers as much as many people believed," said John Shingleton, who conducted the survey.

Large corporations plan to cut back at middle- and top-management levels, but increase hiring 2 percent to 5 percent for 1987-88, the survey results indicate.

The survey also found:
 • Hiring activity at small businesses will increase a robust 10 percent to 17 percent over 1987 levels.
 • Salaries for graduates with a master's degree edged up 2.3 percent from 1986 to $27,700 this year.

At $30,190, chemical engineering graduates top out the list of highest starting salaries, followed by industrial and civil engineering majors. The lowest starting salary of $16,600 goes to geology majors.

The greatest increase in demand will be for graduates majoring in hotel, restaurant and institution management, up 4.3 percent from a year ago.

Demand is also stronger for graduates with degrees in marketing, geology, accounting and electrical engineering.

Snowbound travelers rescued in China

BEIJING (AP) — About 1,000 travelers have been rescued after being stranded for days by snowstorms in a remote area of western China, the official Xinhua News Agency said.

It said people traveling in about 300 vehicles were stuck on a steep and narrow 22-mile stretch of highway between the Xinjiang provincial capital of Urumqi and the town in Yining near the Soviet border Saturday.

The desolate and sparsely populated region was hit by snowstorms on Nov. 19 and 23, Xinhua said.

It said no injuries or deaths were reported and the travelers were moved to towns where they were provided with coal, food, clothing and accommodation.

The report did not say if any foreigners were among those stranded.

San Francisco mayoral race most expensive ever

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The two candidates running for mayor of San Francisco have made this year's election the most expensive in the city's history, spending more than $3 million between them.

Assemblyman Art Agnos and Supervisor John Molinari have received contributions totaling $3,048,367 thus far and have spent $3,014,449, according to campaign finance records filed Friday.

They face a Dec. 8 runoff. They were the top two finishers in the Nov. 3 primary but Molinari was a distant second.

Agnos has spent about $1.4 million so far but has a campaign deficit of $162,856. Molinari has spent nearly $1.6 million and has a $15,273 campaign debt.

The records also indicated that many local businessmen who supported Molinari have switched over to Agnos since he almost won the race outright in the primary.

Professor to speak on realist fiction

Lillian R. Furst will speak on "Reading Realist Fiction" at 8 tonight in 101 Kern. Furst, a professor of comparative literature at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, will discuss Balzac, George Eliot and other writers. The lecture will also focus on Gombriich's Art and Illusion and on the works of aestheticians who show how people "pretend belief."

Furst has been a Guggenheim fellow and is the author of seven books including European Romanticism: Self Definition and Fictions of Romantic Irony. The lecture is sponsored by the Institute for the Arts and Humanistic Studies, the Department of Comparative Literature and the Department of German.
