We call the attention of our readers to the Advertisement of DEMOREST'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE. We believe it to be all that is claimed for it. In point of size it is one of the largest magazines published. In the variety of its matter it is excelled by none, as a fashion and pattern monthly it stands at the head. Every family ought to have it. The subscription price is $3. We will furnish DEMOREST'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE and the ELK ADVOCATE for $3.50 in advance. To those who have already paid their subscriptions to the Advocate we will send DEMOREST'S MONTHLY for $2. We are enabled to do this under a special arrangement with the publisher.

The Commissioners of Elk county will meet at their office in Ridgway, on Friday, the 19th day of April next. JAS. K. P. HALL, CLK.

The Dime Society meets at the house of A. H. Heald, tomorrow evening. A general invitation is extended to everybody.

We have for sale at this office a scholarship in Bryant & Stratton's International Chain of Commercial Colleges. For Sale Cheap. Ap. 18-19.

HIGH WATER.—The rain of Monday last raised the water in the different streams to such a height as to submerge the sidewalks in the lower part of town. We have not learned whether any damage was sustained from it by our lumbermen.

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the Catsmount Base Ball Club, will be held in the Court House on Saturday evening next. H. H. THOMAS, Pres't. J. F. MOORE, Sec'y.

IMMIGRATION TO THE SOUTH.

The New York Times, in noticing the inland destination of immigrants to this country landed at that port, says: "Out of thirteen thousand arrivals at this port during the last month, less than two hundred announced their intention of settling in the South, while on the other hand the westward tide continues as great as ever. We have no doubt that this may, in a slight degree, be attributed to the small effort made by the Southern States, in comparison with the Western, to attract immigration; but it is owing in a much larger measure to the unsettled condition of affairs in the South. Free political institutions, order, the chance for acquiring land, and the opportunities of labor, are the great attractions to immigration, and until the South can offer these as the West offers them, immigrants will prefer the latter."

The South has made efforts to turn the stream of immigration in that direction, as we learn from the Times, which announces that the statesmen of the South, "represented by Governor Orr, of South Carolina, are addressing themselves to the people of Europe, in the hope of securing something from the tide of emigration which annually sets in from Ireland and Germany. Virginia has an accredited agent in London for this purpose. Tennessee is about sending one there, sundry parties are laboring in the interests of Louisiana in that market, and South Carolina has within the month sent a special commissioner abroad, charged with this very important duty. So far as we are informed, South Carolina, urged and aided by Governor Orr, is in the van of this movement, and is preparing to make systematic endeavors in the line of settlements."

The trouble in this matter is that the leaders of the Radical party will not allow the Southern States to become a portion of the Union, and that deters immigrants from locating in that section. The men who leave the military governments of Europe, where the iron heel of despotism crushes liberty and labor to the earth, will not choose a home where the same kind of authority is dominant, and hence they avoid the South under present circumstances. Then again, the Radical papers teem with accounts of outrages in the South, and convey the impression that neither life nor property is safe in any one of the now unrepresented States, and this also has the effect of filling the West with foreign laborers, to the injury of the South. If the Radical party will take the hand of military rule off from the Southern States, they can and will offer sufficient inducements to obtain a fair share of the foreign immigrants who land upon our shores. This is all that is needed to give the South a start in the matter of obtaining laborers, and until that is done they cannot compete with the West.

NEW YORK, April 14. A man named John G. Myers, stopping at Lovejoy's Hotel, was found dead in his room this morning. The cause assigned for his death is a beating which he received last night in the saloon of Louis Schwartz, No. 169 Broadway. One of the parties supposed to be implicated in the affair, named James G. Galway, has been arrested.

—Georgia has filed her complaint in the Supreme Court against the military despotism bill. Right. The matter should be hurried up as rapidly as possible, and the Court given no rest until it shall make a decision against the constitutionality of the bill—as of course it must, sooner or later.

In Paris there are 80 free schools, employing 200 female teachers and educating annually 15,000 poor girls.

—A man in Chicago advertises a half interest in a well regulated lay-hing-for-sale, assigning as a reason his utter inability to spend all the profits.
