

RESIDENCE HALLS

Our three traditional residence halls accommodate 620 undergraduate students. Men and women live on separate sides of the same residence hall with a lobby area in between. All three of these buildings are locked between midnight and 7:00 a.m. Both men's and women's living areas have security doors that remain locked twenty-four hours a day. A security Night Assistant is stationed in the lobbies from 8:00 p.m. to 4:00 a.m. to monitor persons entering the hall. All exterior doors in these buildings are equipped with dead-bolt locks and all windows in the living areas can be locked.

Our three new, suite-style, residence halls house 195 undergraduate students in units of four rooms, accommodating two students each, and two bathrooms on each corridor. These buildings have central lobbies with locked corridors leading to the bedrooms. Each bedroom is secured by a dead-bolt lock. Guests can gain entrance to the vestibule where they can call the resident they are visiting. The residents then can come to the vestibule to provide access to their guests through the interior entrance which remains locked at all times.

APARTMENT BUILDINGS

The Penn State-Behrend Apartment buildings house 32 students each, totalling 288 upperclass students. Each individual apartment has two bedrooms, occupied by two students each, a bathroom, kitchen and living room area. Each exterior door and individual bedroom door is equipped with dead-bolt locks which can be secured 24 hours a day.

Laundry rooms in the basements of Packett and Yarnell Halls are locked at all times. Access can be gained to those areas by residents' apartment keys.

During low-occupancy periods, such as holidays and breaks, apartment residents are allowed to remain on campus even though a minimum of student services is available. They are informed by letter of emergency procedures in effect during these periods.

CONTINUING EDUCATION

An excellent working relationship is maintained with the Erie City Police. The facility is open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays, and 8 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. All Penn State-Behrend policies and regulations apply to this facility.
