SGA Report

The recommended budget allocations were up for senate approval last night. The allocation for a computer for Multi-Cultural Council/Association of Black Collegians/Asian Students Organization/National Society of Black Engineers/Women Today/Human Relations Programming Council/Trigon was questioned, since all campus organizations have access to the computer in the SGA office. The president of the National Society for Black Engineers said that the computer was needed to network with their national society's database. Another rational given was that the MCC office is shared by eight groups and the computer would be secure in a locked office. It was moved to make an amendment to cut the funds for the computer.

The motion did not carry.

No money was removed from any recommended allocations, therefore no appeals were heard for any groups. There is a revised budget meeting on Monday, April 18 at 5:00 p.m. in Reed 117. The purpose of this meeting is to inform the campus organizations which parts of their budgets were allocated funds.

The Communication Club constitution was brought before the senate. In accordance with the by-laws, it is tabled for two weeks.

Today is the last day of SGA elections. If you still need to vote, a table will be set up in the mail room in the Reed Building.
