ALL MY CHILDREN: Opal fainted when "Will" walked into the courtroom. Edmund learned Liz and Allison were leaving Pine Valley. Kendall asked her adoptive mother, Alice Hart, for a favor. Erica told a stunned Dimitri that Corvina had always wanted his love. Janet lost custody of Amanda, but vowed to get her back. After Trevor's proposal, Laurel appealed to Natalie for guidance. Wait to see: Gloria faces another crisis.

ANOTHER WORLD: Paulina and Vicky left the funeral in a limousine which Jake almost entered, thinking it was his ride to the airport. Rachel learned Joe once dated her sister, Nancy. Joe saved Alli from Bailey's clutches by taking her out of Crossroads House. Later, Bailey had an awkward moment when Linette (played by Daisy Egan) arrived at the place. Joe investigated Madeline, Bailey's wife. Wait to see: Bailey puts a "survival" plan into action.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: A close moment between Barbara and Hal turned ugly. Shannon told Lily she fears Duncan doesn't want to remarry her. Lucinda tried to persuade Samantha to stay in Oakdale. Lisa was startled to get flowers from Eduardo. Later, she demanded the details of Eduardo's death. Jef was fascinated by Emily's story about Royce. Emily later learned Jef is Rick Hamlin's son. Wait to see: John makes a shocking discovery.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: Taylor disguised herself to attend Brooke and Ridge's seminar. Sheila told Mike she had to keep Lauren and James Warwick apart because only Lauren and Sheila's mother know she didn't die in a fire as everyone else assumed. Sally was distressed about the threatening letters sent to Macy. After Ridge and Brooke unknowingly caused the climatron controls to allow the heat to rise, Ridge was badly injured when it exploded. Wait to see: Taylor faces a crucial decision.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Father Francis threw holy water on Marlana whose inner demon flung him across the room. Later, Mike found curious burn marks on Marlana's hands (where the holy water hit her). Jack and Laura were stunned to learn each other's true identities and embraced as they agreed to keep their past intimacy secret. Jennifer was upset to find her mother in her ex-husband's arms. Marlana, via the devil, got Stefano to agree to free her. Vivian set fire to her mansion so that Kate would be forced to let her stay with the Kiriakises. Sami was humiliated when Austin said he made love to her only because he thought she was Carrie. To Bo's surprise, Gina asked to join the police department, following in Hope's footsteps. Wait to see: The devil puts a supreme test on Marlana.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Felicia gave birth to her daughter, whom Maxi named Georgie. Later, disguised as his twin, Kevin, Ryan worked his way into General Hospital and kidnapped baby Georgie. Sonny was upset by Mike's efforts to probe into his life. Alan and the Quartermaines gathered to discuss Monica's plan to bring Page and Emily home with her. Wait to see: Edward quite literally goes to the dogs.

GUIDING LIGHT: Dinah visited Vanessa after learning her mother controlled her trust fund. Later, Blake and Ross had a confrontation over Dinah. Annie was upset when an emergency room patient lied about her injuries. Josh decided to quit Lewis Oil and restart Lewis Construction. Holly told Blake she planned to try to make a go of her relationship with Fletcher. Alan told Alexandra he regretted giving Spaulding Enterprises to Alan-Michael. Wait to see: Roger works on his revenge.

LOVING: Gwyn confronted Clay on his faked paralysis. Frankie asked Jeremy to help find out more about the mysterious Jacob. Cooper learned Steffi turned down a Paris modeling job because of him. Charles and Jeremy learned Jacob's fingerprints came back clean. Angie caught sight of Jacob. Cooper gave Cabot and Clay a plan for an Alden Enterprises office in Paris. Wait to see: Jacob's next move could create problems for Angie.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: Cassie gave Jean (one of Viki's alter egos) worrisome news about finding the location of Dorian's phone call. David asked Tina to make sure Sam doesn't give any information to Todd. Dorian was distressed by Jean's conditions for her release. David later made a deal with "Viki" for his release from jail. Tina was upset when David asked for a divorce. After a confrontation with Todd about his true identity, Jean split into Niki who promptly headed out of town to party. Wait to see: Dorian is forced into a dangerous plan of action.

YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: Jack was surprised and moved by Jill's imploring John to recover from his stroke. Later, Jack and Luan moved into the Abbott mansion. Mamie then ran off to see John in the hospital. Ryan was angry when Nina said she planned to finish college before getting pregnant again. While Hope was telling Douglas about her plans for a surprise birthday party for Victor in their apartment, Victor was accepting Nikki's suggestion for a family party at the ranch. Mari Jo was startled to hear Ashley say she and Blade (actually Rick) were hoping to start a family. The real Blade, meanwhile, escaped and came to Genoa City to confront Mari Jo. Later, Rick was shocked to find Blade in Ashley's room. After learning of Lauren's plan to meet with Dr. James Warwick, Sheila flew to Los Angeles to remind Lauren of her promise to Scott not to expose her. Wait to see: Lauren makes a decision that could cause problems for her and Warwick.

The Brown Derby Roadhouse

by John Hafner
Assistant Entertainment Editor

Although I'm hardly a reputable food critic, I know good grub when I taste it and I'm always eager to check out new restaurants. After hearing a lot of hype from its happy customers,

I decided to sample the cuisine of the Roadhouse, a fairly new addition to the Millcreek Mall.

Located where the Brown Derby used to be, the Roadhouse is unlike any other restaurant I've ever been to. It's basically a down-home, country-cookin' establishment with a unique Western flair.

While you wait for a table or booth at the Roadhouse, you can help yourself to a huge barrel of delicious peanuts and enjoy the loud yet appropriate country music that echoes throughout the dining rooms and bar.

The fun really begins once you've been seated by your host or hostess, who just happens to be dressed in modern Western wear to add to the restaurant's "Old West" environment. The menu presents you with a long list of mouth-watering appetizers and a series of authentic, down-right delicious Western dinners to choose from.

Once you've decided on a meal, it takes all you've got just to handle the huge salad and beverage you're blasted with. In a bowl not much smaller than the average hot tub, the salad has everything you could possibly want and then some. The glasses are probably three times the size as those found in other restaurants.

I can personally recommend the Roadhouse's barbecue ribs. I ordered a half rack with a baked potato and a Cherry Coke. I don't know where they got the pork from, but let me tell you; that pig had some big ribs! Had I ordered a full rack, I'd either still be sitting there chomping away with a face full of barbecue sauce or, more likely, in the hospital with a severe case of heartburn that would laugh at even the healthiest dose of Mylanta.

The potato was at least the size of a grapefruit and the Cherry Coke actually had a cherry in it. The thought of ordering dessert was simply too much for my stomach to bear.

The tables are covered with long sheets of brown paper and conveniently come with their own pair of crayons, which the waiters and waitresses use to write their names somewhere between your salad bowls and glasses. Customers are allowed to doodle, play tic-tac-toe, write notes, or draw pictures while their food is being prepared, an added bonus for families with small children that too often express their low levels of patience in public.

Customers also get their very own bucket of peanuts, and throwing the shells on the floor is actually encouraged.

The talented cooks prepare the hearty meals over flaming stoves in the middle of the main dining room where all can see, allowing you to watch every step of your food's preparation if you wish.

Even the bathrooms at the Roadhouse possess a distinctive quality of excellence. The men's room is serenaded with the same loud country music and is impressively decorated with framed posters of some fine cowgirls, like Kathy Ireland and Rachael Hunter.

I must warn you, though, don't go to the Roadhouse with anything short of an empty stomach. The people there don't mess around. You won't find fancy French foods or elegant table settings. Instead, you get a Texas-style dining atmosphere and a menu packed full of home-cooked meals at extremely reasonable prices. Customers literally get the "meat and potatoes," the kind of food that sticks to your ribs.

The Roadhouse has many things to offer. From tasty entrees to a footloose, Western environment, not to mention waitresses that could cheer up even the loneliest of cowboys, its customers leave with a full stomach and a new dining experience. This fairly new addition to the Mall is as good for your budget as it is for your appetite.
