Missing tiles

I am a sixth semester Bio student and have I got a story for you.

Last semester, a student doing research isolated the enzyme responsible for life. Then, accidentally, the enzyme was dropped and spilled on the floor in Nick 69. Ever since then, the tiles on the floor have been missing. Everyday, more and more holes appear on the floor - holes where tiles used to be!

COINCIDENCE? I THINK NOT!!!

Many of us in Genetics lab have seen these tiles leaving Nick late at night while we were checking our flies. The tiles said they were leaving because they were tired of getting stepped on. When we told our teachers they didn't believe us, they said we were loopy from breathing in too much ether and the fed up tiles were hallucinations.

But I don't care what people say, those tiles are getting up and leaving. If you don't believe me, stop down in the Bio lab in Nick 69 and see for yourself!!

Sincerely,
An ether sniffing, cell counting, Biology major

THIS IS A JOKE!

PLEASE REMEMBER THAT THIS PAPER IS A JOKE (HEY, IT ISN'T ALWAYS A JOKE!) AS IS EVERYTHING INCLUDED IN IT.

Top ten beers

Since my arrival at Behrend two years ago, I have sampled many of the beers that are available out there.

Here are a few of my favorites:

- 10. Red Wolf - it's the wolf that's red, not the beer.
- 9. Yuengling - the taste of Pottsville, this lager is is the taste of Bud at a cheaper price.
- 8. Killian's Red - A thick lager beer, this expensive taste offers an exquisite buzz.
- 7. Old English - a @#&$*%# awesome beer!

- 6. Schlitz Lite Ice - expect a huge headache the morning after the kegstand with this ale.
- 5. Coor's Light - a favorite among women drinkers, the Silver Bullet offers a great lite beer in the silver can.
- 4. Beast - actually, it's called Milwaukee's Best. This beer is popular because of it's low cost at the 'butor (distributor).
- 3. Rolling Rock - the taste of Latrobe in the popular green bottle, this good beer is a favorite for many on campus.
- 2. Budweiser - not only does this classic beer have the best commercial on TV now, but Bud offers a great taste.
- 1. Labatts - a smooth yet refreshing beer in an attractive bottle, Labatts has the best taste of all the beers.

Top ten mixed drinks

Personally, beer is not the best thing on campus. If you're looking for fun (that is, something to do besides hanging out at Bruno's), mixed drinks are something that you can not only experience with but can give you one #&$@ of a hang over. In addition, mixed drinks give you more buzzes for your money.

Here are a few that you can try instead of the beers listed above:

- 10. Zima - though this isn't a mixed drink, this alcoholic Sprite can be mixed with practically anything.
- 9. Whiskey Sour - a favorite of men, this drink is just as sour as it's name and offers a great drink for depressed.
- 8. Kamikaze - an equal mix of vodka, triple sec and lemon juice, this personal favorite of mine is an excellent taste and quick buzz.
- 7. Rum & Coke - basically self explanatory but the drink offers an easy taste for light or first time drinker.

- 6. Grain Punch - grain & any type of fruit punch. Just don't smoke while drinking (the label say extremely flammable).
- 5. Lemon Dagers - lemonade and vodka leaves the drinker buzzed after only a few. I recommend mixing the drinking with a game to make the fun last longer.
- 4. Long Island Ice Tea - all I need to say is rum and a lot some other junk. Buy it mixed.
- 3. Southern Blues - what an excellent drink! Without the twinge of heat in your throat, the mix of So Co and blueberry schnapps goes down smooth and nice. But beware, the morning after hurts.
- 2. Sex on the Beach - the sister to the screwdriver, sex on the beach offers the great taste of gin mixed with chilled orange juice.
- 1. Screwdriver - a classic at the bars and at home. To sit down with a mix of vodka and orange juice is a favorite of many.
