

The House: The Reed Building is across from Erie Hall. The men's and women's basketball teams play in Erie Hall. They are very good. They both did really well this season. They're other buildings that are near Erie Hall.

Blow this fish: Hootie and the Blowfish wrapped up their "365 days in a row" world tour. As you can see, Hootie and the rest of the 'fish are worn out. They finished their tour in Bruno's in the Reed Building. The Reed Building is near Erie Hall, where the basketball teams play.

Here comes the Hotstepper

After reading several of Larry King's columns, I have found out that I can't write a page of pure b.s. To start off, Brian Gregory and Joe Mottillo, Panther beat writers for this season, will be 2/3 of the starting line for the team next season. The right winger will be none other than their hero Cam "the Man" Brown.

After going to the Reds, Paul Benim has signed an athletic deal with Zips footwear. Benim said, "Zips is what is in. I dig it." Obviously, Benim is speaking like a major leaguer. He will be the starting catcher on opening day with Enricae Romo, a Pirate from the early 80s, on the mound.

Chris Reber, Ken "The Crippler" Miller, and Bob "I've seen the" Light have all agreed to participate in WrestleMania this Sunday. Reber and Light will be taking on the team of the Wild Samoans. Miller will be facing the winner of the Bam Bam Bigalow/Lawrence Taylor match.

Mottillo and the rest of the sports staff were recently spotted working on a real article. This report is under speculation. In my opinion, this has to be false.

Although Michael Jordan has made a successful return to the NBA, John Lilley has denied reports that he will be returning to pro tennis. Said Lilley, "Agassi can't hang, Sampras is a bum, but no I won't be coming back to tennis. I feel that the clothing style isn't chic enough for a comeback." Reports surfaced after Lilley was seen practicing behind Glenhill last week.

The question that is surfacing now, where will Bill "Not a cracker" Graham be headed? With Benim going to the Reds, multi-athlete Graham is being sought after by many sports teams. It has been mentioned in sports circles that Graham will be the relief pitcher for Moose lodge #809 t-ball team. Good Luck, Bill!
