The Wintergreen Cafe, affectionately called the Gorge by the Behrend community, will receive a face lift this summer.

According to Dr. Chris Reber, Dean of Student Affairs, The Gorge will better serve Behrend with renovations.

"I believe that the present Cafe isn't adequate for the entire student body," he said.

Reber added that the current Cafe "will certainly not be adequate for the student body in the following years."

The new Gorge will be called Bruno's and will be set up much like the Market Cafe at Wegmans.

Decorations will be similar to Ruby Tuesdays' with eclectic memorabilia associated with Behrend.

The actual layout will consist of a multi-level, 450 person seating area compared to the current 310 person, single-level area.

The plan creates access to the Reed conference rooms through the kitchen for catering.

The renovations also include improvements to the Reed

The new Bruno's will have capabilities to host conferences, with several televisions rather than a single large screen television.

Commons and the Wintergarden Atrium with such things as a pastry food cart. The funding for this project will come from Housing and Food Services.
