

Honors program travels to see Phantom

The annual Honors program trip to Toronto is slated for April 5, 1997. In addition to the traditional Phantom of the Opera, participants are also being offered an opportunity to see Tennessee Williams' The Glass Menagerie. Tickets must be paid in advance by November 5, along with a $25 deposit on the hotel and bus package. The trip is open to all students, faculty, staff, and guests. For more information call x6000.

Free HIV/AIDS testing now available

The Health and Wellness Center announces the establishment of a new agreement with the Erie County Department of Health which will support continued free HIV/AIDS testing and education at the Health and Wellness Center. The test is completely confidential and anonymous. The test, results, and counseling will not appear on your health record. To obtain free testing call the Health and Wellness center at 898-6217, Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. to schedule an appointment.

Heart walk a success

Eleven members of the Matchbox Players participated in Erie's Heart Walk on October 13, 1996. These Behrend students joined approximately 700 others from the Erie community in the five-mile walk. To help combat heart disease, the Matchbox Players accepted $531.47 in pledges from members of the Penn State Behrend community. The Matchbox Players extend a gracious thank you to all who contributed.

Oww...Quit It: The biannual blood drive sponsored by Theta Phi Alpha sorority and Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity was once again a success. The drive, held yesterday, benefits the Community Blood Bank of Erie County. At the present time, the Blood Bank is in dire of need of all blood types. Anyone wishing to donate can do so at the Community Blood Bank at 2845 Peach St. in Erie. Donating only takes a few minutes and can save up to seven lives, once the blood is broken down into its components.

CCSG

Council of Commonwealth Student Governor's President, Benjamin Faulds announced his resignation, due to personal reasons, at a central staff meeting Monday night.

After commending staff for their work at the council meeting earlier this month, Faulds distributed his letter of resignation to the staff thanking them each for the job they have done this semester. He told the staff in his letter that the decision had nothing to do with their work.

"I have nothing but respect for you, and I take pride in the way that you have worked together and individually," he said. "I assure you that nothing that you have or could have done would alter the decision that I have made."

Faulds said no one on staff, including CCSG Vice President Tim Daniels, knew about his decision to leave CCSG, but that he had been thinking about it for a few months.

had to do to date," he said. "I can't help but feel that I let a lot of people down. I surprised a bunch of people, and I'm not sure that they understand my reasons."

Faulds said the resignation will become effective in about a week - after he has helped Daniels make the transition into the position. He said, although he is not sure how the vice president vacancy will be filled, he would like to see Daniels appoint someone and have council ratify the decision.

Daniels declined to comment on the resignation.

CCSG members at the Commonwealth Educational System locations were notified of the resignation by e-mail Tuesday, Faulds reports.

After Daniels is ready to take over his position, Faulds said he will work on affairs outside the University.

"I have things that aren't University related that I have planned to work on," he said. "Nothing with the same time commitment (as CCSG) though."
