What's up, Dan? My nipples, Danielle...it's freezing out here and I'm so happy to see you: Jack Frost will visit Erie this weekend as temps dip below zero. Forecasters are calling for 25 to 37 inches of luscious white stuff with gusts up to 89 mph. And if you buy this, we have a 50 cent trick for you.

ALMY SHOOTER

Callen Erwin holds Behrend at bay

By Carley Gwin
Incompetent Business Manager

Fear struck the hearts of the Behrend community yesterday when a disgruntled student scaled Almy Hall and held the campus hostage using a high powered sling-shot. Callen Erwin, Computer Science 06, described by many as "a comp sci major gone mad", climbed to the top of the nearly-complete Almy Hall at approximately 8:00 a.m. Wednesday morning, sling-shot in hand.

At precisely 8:45 am Erwin opened fire on the few clueless students who still attempt to use the Million Dollar Staircase, and succeeded in sending a few to

Health and Wellness where they were in Patty's capable hands.

Two hours later, good ol' reliable Behrend Vice finally arrived and tried to coax the crazed Erwin down from the roof of Almy Hall.

Erwin refused and threatened to kidnap Dean Lilley unless his demands were met.

At press-time no demands were met and Callen Erwin was still atop Almy Hall, pitching a tent. Behrend Vice had left the scene to patrol the parking lots for cars to ticket.

Are Callen's demands so wrong? Doesn't every Behrend student deserve a place to sleep, a place to park, and a chocolate milkshake???

Erwin's not-so-serious demands:

- Opening the pool - "I wanna swim when it's hot"
- More parking
- Operating the tow rope on the ski slope
- Six chocolate milk shakes
- More housing
- An accessible fast food restaurant - "...and I don't mean the Gorge"
- An underground tunnel system to avoid the horrible weather conditions in blustery Erie
- A drainage system - "I'm tired of canoeing to class!"
- Coca-Cola Classic on campus
- A student newspaper worth reading (we hope The Collision meets his needs).
