0-14 SPAM: YOU! Out of the gene pool! Lower than the scum on the pool, you're not even a meat! You're a pasteurized processed meat product that shouldn't reproduce. Get lost, loser - we'd rather starve.

15-23 STEAKUM: You have potential but could use A LOT of work. We recommend picking up a few issues of Cosmo and trying some new beers.

24-34 HAMBURGER: A date to look forward to, you understand the fundamentals of dating but could probably use a little help in the area of class. Pay close attention to close lovers around you and take notes.

The dashing Dean

Dating tips from the pro: Provost and Dean John Lilley explains the finer points of dating. His tips include bathing, spending a lot of cash and Bacardi 151 with a twist. "Slick Willie Lilley," as he was known in his college years, presented "Dating 101: Getting to First Base" yesterday in the Reed Lecture Hall. Dr. Ursula Davis and Dr. Rob Speel, Collision advisors, illustrated "Dating Don'ts: How to get slapped in the first 15 minutes." Dr. Chris Reber, Dean of Students, joined in this segment as an expert on losing the game of love. Dating don'ts included bringing your mother, chewing with your mouth open and Reber's advice that "Not tonight doesn't mean try again later." Reber was unavailable for photo due to a black eye.

Real music on WPSE

The administration has decreed that WPSE can spin the hits and trash the talk. In an announcement late last night, Dr. Chris Reber, Dean of Students, said that Behrend's radio station will change formats this weekend.

Musical selections will be chosen by Reber, whose favorites include Barry Manilow, Michael Jackson, the Spice Girls and Milli Vanilli. Reber, who is tone deaf, said he can't wait to dust off his dancing shoes and "do a little dance."

Fred Anzivino, former WPSE head, pictured at the left, will return to run the station. Anzivino was unavailable for comment due to whipped cream in his ears.
