

Behrend to open new intramural fields in Fall 1998

Beginning in the fall 1998 semester, Behrend students will be greeted with the addition of new intramural fields. The new fields will be located to the north of Erie Hall, just beyond the small area of trees.

Many students seemed excited with Behrend's addition of the fields, not to mention looking forward to the possibility of playing sports at night with the field lights Behrend plans to include.

"It will be nice to have more room to play different sports," said sophomore Mark Henzler. "I love being able to be out under the stars, especially to play soccer," added Henzler.

"The sky is the limit for this campus if it keeps growing at this current pace."

The fields are to be sized fairly large and will eventually include lights, although the date the lights are to be put in has not yet been set. The path to the fields will also include a bridge for students to pass back and forth.

"Everything Behrend does to expand is a positive thing," said sophomore Pat Cronin. "The sky is the limit for this campus if it keeps growing at this current pace," added Cronin.

The next major addition to Behrend sports will be in 1999, when Behrend's new major sports complex is set to be in place for all students and faculty.
