

Make your resumé stand out from students who spend all day watching Jerry Springer or drinking beer.

your talent is too good to waste!

Applications are now being accepted for editorial positions on The Collegian (soon to be The Beacon) for the 1998-99 academic year.

POSITIONS INCLUDE:

Editor in Chief - oversees all aspects of the newspaper, in charge of public relations

Managing Editor - second in command on the newspaper, oversees all text and photography

Business Manager - accounting and bookkeeping for the paper, budget proposals

Advertising Manager - in charge of ad sales staff, oversees commissions

News Editor - oversees Behrend news section

Features Editor - in charge of features pages

Sports Editor - in charge of sports

Layout Editor - in charge of layout, graphical design, must have knowledge of Pagemaker

Photography Editor - oversees photography staff

Wire Service Editor - in charge of the newswire pages

Editorial Page Editor - oversees the editorial page

Associate Editor - in charge of the Calendar, Question of the Week, and Police and Safety Report

Applicants for the Editor in Chief position should prepare a written statement of their journalistic qualifications, editorial philosophy, their assessment of the current strengths and weaknesses of The Collegian and their plans for the organization of staff members. Editor in Chief applicants should submit their statements to Dr. Chris Reber in the Office of Student Affairs.

Applicants for all other editorial positions should send a paragraph with their interest and qualifications to The Collegian offices in the Reed Building or to BEHRCOLL5@aol.com.

The Collegian is also seeking editorial columnists for the Fall 1998 semester. Interested students should send a sample column to The Collegian by mail or by email.

Students interested in working on the news, features, sports, photography, or advertising staff next year are also welcome to contact The Collegian at this time.

All Editors can earn 2 or 3 course credits (commu197A); other writers can earn 1 credit (commu001); advertising staff can earn sales commissions; the business manager can earn credits through the School of Business

Applications for all editorial positions and columnists are due by Friday, April 3 at 5:00 pm.