

SGA- continued from page 1

plained "We, as the SGA Senate, feel that the student body as a whole is being taken advantage of by the library in regards to the Venda Card system. First, the students are unaware of this system. Second, we are being charged 10 cents per copy, offering the student body no incentive to use this system. (At University Park, student are charged 6 cents per copy). And third, the library makes no real attempt to supply the average student the opportunity to buy Venda Cards unless he/she goes to the MISC to purchase one. We, the SGA Senate, feel that the student body is being wronged and would appreciate if the library would reconsider their current Venda Card system."

The Resolution will be sent after the next meeting.

SGA President Buck Goedicke

photo by Andrea Zaffino

Bond- continued from page 1

because once the problem is recognized, a solution is forthcoming.

Sean Mascoll, 05 Communications, said, "Julian Bond was very inspirational in what he was saying. He knew his subject material and I felt proud of his representation of black people."

Melissa E. Davis, 01, International Business and Finance, said, "I am very appreciative that the minority population was so adequately represented by such a prestigious leader of the Black community. He was an inspirational speaker and his speech was highly enthusiastic."

Angelique Parker, 03, MIS, said, "I believe that Julian Bond proposed a very inspirational speech. His views and the information that he presented were both informative and direct. I was glad to be able to be in the presence of a Civil Rights leader and I know this will be a privilege I won't forget."

Erica Cobb, 01, Pre-med/Biology, said, "He was a really good speaker. His humor helped me relate to what he was saying. He made me aware that the NAACP was still a strong force in the civil rights movement for all people, not just black people."

Shimira Williams, 05, Business Economics, said, "I thought that Julian Bond was a very enlightening and inspirational man. He made me wish I could have experienced the movement in the sixties."

Chimere Allen, 03, Accounting and Business management, said, "He said things that reinforced thoughts that I previously had about the NAACP. I especially liked the part when he spoke about one of the classes that he teaches where they reenact what happened to the students who participated in the sit-ins."

Cheon Graham, 03, Psychology, said, "He was an intellectual speaker and seems to like what he is doing. It was very informative. He cleared up my thoughts about the nonviolent approach in the Civil Rights movement."

Police And Safety REPORT:

11/08/98 Complainant reported a disturbance outside Lawrence Hall South side. Upon our arrival the non students that were involved left campus. No action taken.

11/08/98 Someone broke into truck and stole mountain bike and tools.

11/09/98 Duty RA called and requested an ambulance for complainant due to a severe headache. Brookside responded and transported complainant to St. Vincent hospital.

11/09/98 Change stolen from the change machine in Perry.

11/09/98 Call for ill student. Upon arrival found student hyperventilating which may have resulted from prescription drug reaction. Student refused transportation for medical attention.

11/09/98 Complainant called to inform us of a student worker in Reed with a broken arm. East county contacted an ambulance. Officers dispatched to Bruno's.

Do you think the KKK had the right to march in downtown Erie last week?

"Yes, because it's a free country."
-Mike Huston, 03 Secondary Education

"They had the right to say their view, but I don't agree with them marching because it cost the community extra for police protection."
-Elizabeth Oslak, 05, Psychology

"They had the right, but it should have been in an inconspicuous place."
-Eric Numberg, 07, Business

"Yes, because it's their Constitutional right. Censorship is a dangerous thing."
-Molly Prosser, 03, English

"Hell no!"
-Erika Ford, 03, Psychology

Question of the Week

The Beacon congratulates Trista Rupp on 71 days and counting in the "Live in It to Win It" VW Beetle.

