

Master plan cont. from pg. 1

everything. Even with all of the new development, Dean Lilley told the Beacon, "We're going to try to maintain that character." Behrend has committed to parking garages as an alternative to using more land for lots, and as always, plans to preserve the historic center of campus donated by the Behrend's.

With all of this new development, you might wonder whether Behrend will be able to maintain its integrity as a selective school. Dean Lilley told us that the predicted freshman GPA will be going up next year for four-year degree students, as well as associate degree students.

Lilley also predicted big things for the future of Behrend, saying that our growth occurs incrementally. "Some day there will be several colleges at Penn State Erie, one of which will be Behrend College."

Jeremy Mills, Communications 06, said, "I'm excited that Behrend will be a little more up to date as far as athletic facilities. Maybe now we can have a football team."

Dave Krauza, MIS 08, said, "I think the expansion will be good for Behrend, with respect to the research center and Knowledge Park. It will give students opportunities for better internships and better jobs in the future."

CDC cont. from pg. 1

career goals.

Students are not limited to just Behrend. Behrend students have full access to the University Park recruiting system. Each year more than one thousand corporate recruiters visit UP. Video interviewing is available, where seniors can tape an interview at Behrend and have it sent to UP.

The CDC can be an immense help for all students and should be considered mandatory. As Moore puts it, "When you graduate you are going to get a job, but using the CDC will get you the job."

For more in depth information on all these topics contact the CDC Homepage at <www.pseric.psu.edu/career/cdcindx.htm>, or contact either Director of the CDC, Mary Beth Peterson, or Kevin Moore. They can be reached at (814) 898-6164.

Time Marches On: Fashion show at Behrend

by Danielle Marshall
staff writer

Yes, time did march on as Behrend students modeled into the latest styles and trends for the present Spring and upcoming Summer seasons.

Last Thursday, the National Society of Black Engineers sponsored their annual fashion show held in the Reed Commons. There were about fifty eager students, faculty, and visitors patiently waiting to see what's hot and what's not. The styles on display ranged from army-style attire and swimwear to casual and business wear. In the swimsuit category, the ladies either wore a two-piece or one-piece colorful bathing suit with a matching sarong skirt tied around their waists. The models introduced the bright neon colors that seem to be the choice for this summer. The guys wore either the traditional swimming trunks or swimming briefs. The audience couldn't help but anticipate the hot, sunny days to come. In the military scene, about six students chanted and marched down the isles of the Commons, modeling their camouflage, army uniforms as the audience clapped to the beat. The Fashion Show also included a scene of bridal and prom wear.

Many of Erie's Millcreek Mall stores lent their clothes to our students for showcase purposes. Stores like the Express, TJ Maxx, J. Riggins, American Commodores, Claire's, Casual Corner, Gazooks, and The Limited, helped supply the models with clothes representing the hottest styles and designs.

Master of Ceremonies Will Jordan and Mistress of Ceremonies Kim Moses enlightened the audience with their wit and sense of humor as they introduced each category. Danielle Marshall and Timothy Tate performed the inspirational selection, "Lean On Me", written by Kirk Franklin. The audience had an opportunity to participate in a dancing contest to win tickets for the Peek n' Peak ski slope. Ayodele Jones, 06 POLSC, one of the participants in the contest stated, "It was a really cool way to increase audience participation."

Not only did the audience get rewarded for their presence, but the models benefited from their participation in the show. The models received 30% off from J. Riggins, 20% off from Express, and 10% off from JW until the end of April. Wunmi Okupe, 02 EE assisted Channasa Taylor with this fun-filled event and stated, "First of all, I want to thank all the models. Despite the negative feedback from those who were not involved in the fashion show, we were still able to kick ass." Coordinator Channasa Taylor, 04 MIB stated, "The second annual Fashion Show proved to be a success among students, faculty, and the models. We hope that this continues to be a tradition throughout the years to come."

Police And Safety
REPORT:

- 3/24/99 Complainant phoned to report a lawn mower was found 100 yards from Cooper Road.
- 3/24/99 Wants to "Nip" possible harassment in the "Bud" before it gets out of hand.
- 3/24/99 Complainant reported that someone had driven over the putting greens in Behrend Fields.
- 3/25/99 Complainant reported having his car vandalized.
- 3/25/99 Items reported stolen from the daycare center.
- 3/26/99 Student reported his front license plate was stolen.
- 3/26/99 Individual reported being harassed.
- 3/26/99 Truck damaged in the Nick parking lot.

Can you describe where Kosovo is located?

"In the Caribbean."

David Peluso, 06, MIS

"About a mile from my house."

Ian Karle, 04, PE

"Somewhere on the southern end of Yugoslavia."

Mike Regan, 02, Chem Eng

"In Yugoslavia."

Robert Delaney, 06, MIS

"It's in Yugoslavia, right?"

Sara Lawrence, 04, Psy

Question of the week

JOIN THE FUN!!!!

HEALTH FEST '99

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7
11 AM - 1:30 PM
REED UNION COMMONS

FREE
FOOD AND PRIZES!

(Sponsored by the Health Advisory Board)

