I Know What Boys Like....

I'm sure we've all heard the old cliché, "love at first sight." While this might not be exactly true, knowing that you've found the right person to spend the rest of your life with can feel this way.

I know that it might sound stupid, but I just woke up one morning and knew that I wanted to spend the rest of my life with the girl I was dating. We had been going out for a few months and had known each other for a few years, but all of a sudden it just clicked into place. I realized that I could not live without her.

While we might not be interested in all the same things, and we might not agree on everything, I could not live without her. I can't imagine what it would be like to wake up one morning and know she was gone.

I don't even think of myself anymore. I never really consider what "I'm" going to do, or where "I'm" going to go, it is always in terms of what "we" are going to do and where "we" are going to go.

Many people laugh at me when I tell them that I am going to be getting married; they think that I am way too young to be doing this, or I'm crazy for limiting my options. I just nod and laugh along with them, and then I feel bad for them because they don't understand what it's like to really know that you've found the "one."

What A Girl Wants....

Picture yourself awaking from a dream about your significant other, and you just realize that this is the person that you want to spend the rest of your life with. Believe it or not, this is one way you will know that you have found your soul mate; it just feels like the right choice. There are many different feelings that you may have when you have found the right person for you. It will be a person that you can always feel comfortable around and can talk to about any subject. You will have an indescribable feeling that comes from deep within.

Trust me, when it happens, you will know. This significant other will stick by your side no matter how irrational you may become. You feel that you can always trust them, even if you do not show it all the time. You will feel that you know them better than you know yourself, and it will show to the people around you. You feel that you have truly found a best friend that you would like to be a part of your life for the rest of both of your lives, and you come to believe that there is no one else in the world that could ever top the person you are with now. Trust me, I am speaking from personal experience on this topic, and you will know when the time comes.
