Young water polo team experiences rough waters

by Abigail Long sports editor

Tough competition continues to dominate the women's water polo team. After the games the team has played, their record is just 0-5.

The first season of water polo here has proved to be challenging. In the first four games, Behrend played two Division I schools, one Division II school, and only one fellow Division III school. Two of these teams, Michigan and Indiana, are ranked in the top 20 in the nation. So, the competition has definitely improved Behrend's game, but it does not show in the record books. Also, practice time, as well as three starters for the

On March 2, 2001, Behrend took on Slippery Rock, and lost by a score of 1-10. The following day they took on a Big 10 team, Michigan. The team lost by a score of 2-14. March 4, 2001, was an exhausting day for the team as they took on both Indiana and Washington & Jefferson. Two losses were recorded by scores of 2-13 and 7-16 respectively. Their fifth match of the season was played March 14, versus Marist College. Marist's offense was unstoppable as they dominated the Lions 9-23.

With a new team, the first few games are crucial to learning the game rules as well as with spring break, the beginners lost valuable obtaining much needed game experience. The girls, few of which have ever played the sport before, are learning fast, and show excitement in both games and practices. The coach is working on teaching more game strategies as well as drills. Also, in this rough, highly physical sport, Coach Heynes is encouraging the team to be aggressive in game situations. This aggressiveness also comes along with experience, something the team is lacking.

The team has been practicing both mornings and afternoons plus Saturdays. With the new sport, the team was unable to properly schedule their classes. Therefore, there is some trouble with getting the team together for full practices. Swimming, drills, passing, running plays, working on defense, and scrimmages are all part of the team's practices. However, the eager players willingly put in individual practice time in order to better their game. Gannon has been a great help by practicing with the team. This has given the team the opportunity to see more playing styles and increase their intensity. Coach Heynes stated, "when you practice with your own team it is not as intense as it is with another, so they [Gannon] have been a great asset to us."

Several crossover athletes have stood out among the new team. Mary Good, the lone senior from the volleyball team, is the hole player (or the quarterback of the team). Also, Lindsay Spiegel, a swimmer, is an outside shooter. Both have never played water polo before, but are working hard to learn and play well for the team.

Heynes stated, "I just want them to improve each and every game and come out learning something new each time." On Tuesday, March 20, the water polo team will play their final home game versus Cal State Hayward, at 7:00 PM.

Mary Good, a senior on the water polo team, tries to get the ball from the defender. She plays the position of hole player for the team this year.
