Mark Your Calendars

On Friday, the National Society of Black Engineers (NSBE) and Organization of African Students (OAS) are holding a "Halo" tournament in Reed 113/114. Halo is a very popular first-person shooter for the Xbox gaming system. Play begins at 6 p.m. and will continue until the tournament is completed. There will be four rounds in which each player will get three opportunities to win two out of the three games to advance to the next round. The cost of the event is $2 per person. Prizes include percentages of total profits as well as Bruno's bucks. Seating is limited, so reserve your seat today at the RUB desk.

HALO

A Closer Look

"Country with attitude." That's how the PovertyNeck Hillbillies describe their performances. Of course, that description only scratches the surface of what a Hillbillies show is all about. There's also enthusiasm, showmanship, audience participation, spontaneity, and great original country music, performed by six talented musicians who love what they do.

The PovertyNeck Hillbillies have grown from a regional group playing small bars in Fayette County into the biggest-drawing local band in western Pennsylvania. They've packed clubs and headlined fairs and festivals, pleasing crowds wherever they go.

Every Hillbillies show is different, but the one common theme is fun. Striving to bring the audience into each performance, the Hillbillies perform with wireless mikes and can be found anywhere in the room—up on a bar, table, roof, or even a bridge at some of the outdoor shows. Youngsters at fairs and festivals are often delighted to find themselves encouraged to join the Hillbillies on stage!
