SGA update: resolutions and election results

No homework on voting day

The Student Government Association recently passed the following resolution:

The Pennsylvania State University at Erie, The Behrend College
Student Government Association

Resolution No. 2004-2005-1
9-29-2004

Whereas, the Student Government Association is the representative organization of the student body and strives to give voice to the students, on curricular and co-curricular affairs and represent them to the administration, faculty, staff and outside representatives.

Whereas, student participation in elections is crucial for the well-being and proper representation of the student body at Penn State Behrend.

Be it resolved, that we the Student Government Association are in support that faculty and staff members should avoid scheduling exams or having major assignments due on Election Day (November 2nd, 2004) or the following day to allow student participation in the electoral process.

Respectfully Submitted,

"Working hard, communicating and interacting are my top priorities."
Ashley Smith, ACCT 01

"I'm not quite sure what I'm doing, but I promise to make the best of it."
Teal Ingerick, EARTH 01

"I think the students at Penn State spend a lot of money for tuition and I want them to get their full dollar's worth. I would also like to see the more active groups and students on campus be recognized and rewarded. These are my goals. Stay gold Ponyboy."
Zack Mentz, SE BD 05
