Empty Bowls lunch relieves empty stomachs

ALLY ORLANDO
news editor

As part of Hunger and Homelessness Week 2009, Behrend students helped to raise money for United Way and spread awareness of hunger and homelessness.

The Empty Bowls lunch is a national and international event that usually happens during weeks or events that deal with hunger and homelessness.

According to Cynara Stubbs, Coordinator of the Center for Service and the Smith Chapel, the concept of Empty Bowls is to promote awareness of hunger, donating funds to organizations that help with hunger, and to promote art education.

The main idea is that "somewhere someone's bowl is empty, and by participating you fill that person's bowl," says Stubbs.

To make this event possible, Stubbs sent out letters early in the semester to places that make ceramics, middle schools, and art museums. An eighth grade ceramics class from North East Middle School donated 27 bowls to the cause, as well as Claytopia, who donated one pre-glazed bowl. In addition, Stubbs donated 20 store-bought plastic bowls. Nunzi's Place and Barbato's Italian Restaurant donated wedding soup, while Behrend Housing and Food Services donated vegetable soup.

"It's a good opportunity to help someone, and you get soup out of it," says junior Dana Cerminara, a Residence Service Leader. Sophomore Catherine Franks added, "I think it's beautiful to see college students saving the world one bowl at a time."

"It's beautiful to see college students saving the world one bowl at a time."

The money made at the Empty Bowls lunch will be donated to United Way. At ten dollars for the bowl and the soup, the event managed to make 250 dollars in two hours, according to Stubbs.

"Weeks like this happen across the nation at different universities. It's important that everyone is aware of social justice issues such as hunger and homelessness and what we can do to aid in those causes so that they no longer exist," she says.
