Visitation Hours Effective Oct 23

The Joint Residence Council held its elections Monday, October 18, George Frola is the new chairman of the committee. The position of secretary-treasurer was filled by Pam Reeves (Perry Hall wing representative).

The members of the Council discussed the outcome of the visitation survey. Because of the cooperation of all the residence hall students, only about 12 people were missed in the voting. Individual floor meetings will be held this week. When all the results are compiled, the new visitation hours should be in effect by October 23.

A list of each dorm's visitation hours will be posted in the duty offices and on the entrance door to each floor. That floor's specific visitation hours will be underscored so everyone will be able to see them.

The JRC also formed a committee to write the individual dorm council constitutions, which will consist primarily of rewriting the old Women's and Men's Residence Council constitutions. Those serving on this committee are: Judy Falcon, George Frola, Carol Jupena, and Bill "Bugsy" Seigel.

In a recent revision of their constitution, the members of the JRC will be the only judicial board of review. The purpose of the board is to make sure that students on campus can live peaceably together. The JRC review board can issue punishments ranging from counseling to restitution. Two specific types of punishment are:

1. The immediate referral of the case to the Dean of Student Affairs.

2. Residence Hall probation in which case it will only go on the residence hall records, not on the permanent record of the student. (Permanent record goes to State).

Mr. Fiorentino discusses with each person charged with an official warning whether the case will need counseling or a more severe punishment. Dean Seanor and Mr. Fiorentino then write a report describing the incident to which a statement by the student may be attached. The cases reviewed by the board are held in strictest confidence.

A new social committee was formed consisting of two of the floor representatives from each dorm council not residing on the JRC. Carol Jupera and Judy Falcon are the Co-chairmen of the newly formed social committee.

The Movie "Chamber of Horrors" will be shown on Halloween weekend in the Perry Hall lobby, after the yammy.

Leadership Program Conducts Sessions

A two-day Student Leadership Training Workshop will be offered November 6 and 7 at Pennsylvania State University's Behrend Campus in an effort to stimulate the development of effective student leadership at college campuses and other educational facilities across central and western Pennsylvania.

This new program, developed by Continuing Education at Behrend Campus, is built around some of the ideas of Benjamin A. Lane, Dean of Student Affairs and Associate Professor of English at Behrend.

Dean Lane, who has held his present position since 1960, is a commission member of the American Personnel Guidance Association and a director of the Pennsylvania Association of Student Personnel Administrators. He has long felt that more help should be given student leaders so they can more effectively cope with problems handed them in this period of almost constant crisis.

The Office of Student Affairs at Penn State will serve as sponsor of the two-day workshop, which is built around the theme: "Getting the Job Done Through the Activities of Others."

William E. Mosso, Assistant Director for Continuing Education at Behrend Campus, said the objectives of the workshop will be to stimulate the development of effective student leadership. Emphasis will be placed on establishing meaningful communications between groups and individuals.

"Careful attention will be given also to the importance of interpersonal relations," Mosso added, "the effective methods developed through the behavioral sciences and management training as applied to leadership skills."

Mosso suggested that the following people should attend the conference: student government leaders, officers of campus organizations, resident assistants and resident council officers and members, student union board members, judicial boards, student editors and publication staff members, student personnel staff members, fraternity and sorority officers, and faculty advisers. Schools of Nursing throughout the Tri-State area are also encouraged to send their student leaders as well.

Sessions will open with registration and coffee on November 9 from 9 to 10 a.m. An address of welcome will follow from Dean Lane, with formal sessions getting underway at 10:15 a.m. With the exception of lunch and dinner breaks, first-day sessions will continue through a 9 p.m. evaluation program. A program fee will be charged each enrollee.

The second-day session will conclude at 3 p.m.

The workshop will be conducted on a Saturday and Sunday to allow more student leaders to attend, Mosso said. Sessions will be held in the new J. Elmer Reed Building on the Behrend Campus, which is located seven miles from downtown Erie on a beautiful 425-acre estate.

Additional information on the workshop can be secured by writing or phoning Continuing Education Behrend Campus, Erie, or Office of Student Affairs, Behrend Campus, Erie.

New Candidates In SGA Elections

Five additional names have been submitted to the Student Government Association as candidates for the fifteen available representative posts on SGA. The new applicants expressed their ideas and plans for the future of SGA:

Jim Grimone (1 - Ed. Emporium) would like to help the SGA get all of Behrend more involved in the community. Jim would also "get some changes in visitation, and other problems. The commuters aren't interested enough - nobody really cares and I would like to see it changed."

Carol Jamison (1 - LA - Hamburg, N.Y.) wants to get involved. "I heard they needed volunteers, so I decided to run. They keep complaining about nothing to do on weekends, and I want to change that."

Mark Bodycombe (1 - Gen. Arts and Sci. - Los Gatos, Cal.) is running for SGA because "I want to give the student more say in actions on campus that deal with him, and protect his rights. I'd like to see more done about the pollution problem up here, and more concern on the part of the students."

Chris Veith (1 - Hum. Dev. Levittown) would "like to see anyone on it."

Dave Wolfe could not be reached.

Besides the fifteen vacant representative positions, the office of Second Vice President will be decided by the elections, which are to be held today and tomorrow, October 21 and 22. Voting will take place on Thursday from 9:00 until 4:30 in the lobby of the Behrend Science Building, and on Friday, 9 until 4:30 in front of the RUB cafeteria.
