ROB CARLSON and JON GAILMOR

Carlson and Gailmor

Appearing at the Coffee House this Friday are Rob Carlson and Jon Gailmor, an act currently touring the college circuit.

Coffee House and Movie Set by SUB

The Behrend Student Union Board has scheduled two events of interest for this weekend. The regular Friday night coffee house resumes and the Sunday movie program continues for the winter term.

Rob Carlson and Jon Gailmor, an act currently touring the college coffee house circuit, will make an appearance at Behrend Friday night. Hailing from Westport, Connecticut, these two musician-entertainers have sung and played informally since their high school days. After college, they decided to turn professional.

Carlson and Gailmor play a wide variety of music, including their own compositions. Rhythm and blues, oldies, country-western, acoustic numbers, and barbershop, as well as madrigals and even tape recorder games are performed most-ably by the pair. The duo also does some tunes by George Harrison, Dave Mason, Kenny Loggins, Joni Mitchell, Steve Stills, and Randy Newman in addition to their own material.

Previous to this tour, Carlson and Gailmor have appeared at numerous coffee houses in New England, including the Blue Tooth and the Matterhorn in Vermont, and the Black Pearl in Newport, Rhode Island. In the future they hope to do more writing and some session work. Prices for the 9 p.m. show are 25 cents with an activity card and 50 cents without.

This week's Sunday night movie is "Alice's Restaurant". This folk film classic is based on Arlo Guthrie's "Alice's Restaurant Massacre" ballad. Directed by Arthur Penn, the zany flick concerns itself with the misadventures of Arlo at the Army induction center, eventually leading to a garbage heap on a fateful Thanksgiving Day.

Despite all the laughs and mix-ups, "Alice's Restaurant" concludes rather sadly. Everyone shares the weariness of lost hopes and all the characters realize the past never was what it seemed.

"Alice's Restaurant" was produced by Hillard Elkins and Joe Manduke, and stars Arlo Guthrie, Pat Quinn, and James Broderick. Included in the musical credits besides Arlo Guthrie are Joni Mitchell and Arlo's father Woody. There will be two showings of the movie, the first at 7 p.m. and the second at 9 p.m. Prices for "Alice's Restaurant" are 35 cents with an activity card and a $1.00 without. An added note to this week's SUB schedule is that there will be no Wednesday flicks. They will resume the following week.

Educational Assistance Applications Available

Harrisburg, Jan. 2—Rep. David S. Hayes, (R-5th District, Western Erie-Crawford) announced today that special veteran applications for Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency (PHEAA) scholarships are now available for distribution.

Hayes explained that under Act 216, signed into law on Oct. 11, 1972, all veterans who have been considered in the basic state scholarship program and who may be eligible for an increased award in the Veterans program will be given the opportunity to qualify for the final term of the 1972-1973 academic year without filing a new application.

In order to be eligible for consideration within the veterans program, an applicant must meet these tests:

1. He is not, in fact, receiving

Greasy Kids Stuff

What is Greaser Day? Greaser Day is a nostalgic day of grooves and blues sponsored by the senior class. All this Friday afternoon, Jan. 19, the swinging seniors will be spinning any and all rock and roll that can be found. Friday night, beginning at 8:30 p.m., Behrend's own Cliff Morrison, weatherman for WJET-TV, will be master of ceremonies for a sock hop in the school gym—Erie Hall.

Tickets are 50 cents per person and 75 cents per couple. The live group playing favorite tunes from

Registration Goes Well Regardless of Errors

Seemingly, registration for this school term went as smoothly, Jan. 4 and 5, as it ever has. In fact, it seemed to go better than it has in a very long time. Students did not have the usual long wait to enter the upstairs of the RUB, where the registration procedures were conducted, and once inside, all necessary cards were drawn, filled out, and filed with surprising speed and lack of the usual confusion.

Yet, all did not run as well as initial impressions would lead one to believe. If you did not get the exact course schedule you chose at preregistration, perhaps you were one of two hundred students whose preregistration forms were, due to some clerical error, mislaid in the basement of the Administration Building, not to be found until three days before registration began.

When asked how many students' schedules were altered because of this mishap, Mr. Kenneth Goetz, Administrative Assistant in Academic Affairs replied, "No more than would have been anyway."

Mr. Goetz, who headed the registration program, further explained that most of those students affected were in the College of Liberal Arts, and were assigned classes which followed a logical sequence in each student's fulfillment of the varied L.A. general requirements.

By another fluke, the course limitation card for an arts class was lost during registration, enabling fifty seven students to sign up for a class limited to thirty students. When this was finally discovered by the teacher, Mr. James Flaherty, twenty seven of the fifty seven students on the class list were dropped.

All's well that ends well, however, for no student was irrevocably set back by these mishaps, and no major harm was done, in spite of the consternation of those students and teachers involved.

Behrend Will Not Close In Spite of London Flu

By Margie Campbell
Executive Editor

Contrary to common rumor, Behrend Campus will not close its residence halls or stop classes unless the number of students becoming ill increases tremendously. Mrs. Barbara Kuligowski, Director of Health Services, reports that after conferring with Dean Benjamin Lane and Mr. Irvin Kochel, Director of Behrend Campus, the decision was made not to close down the campus unless the illnesses experienced by students reached epidemic levels. So far, approximately 150 to 175 resident students have been treated at the dispensary. Few commuters have been treated at the dispensary, although the services are open to all students. Mrs. Kuligowski feels that the majority of commuters who were sick went to their family doctor.

Despite the epidemic proportions of London flu hitting the United States and the surrounding areas, Mrs. Kuligowski does not believe that any of the illness being treated at the Dispensary is due to this disease. There is little of a true virus, she feels, but more of a bacteria-oriented disease, with many students suffering from bronchitis and sore throat with fever.

Mrs. Kuligowski said that this is the worst illness to infect so many students at the same time during the five years she's been at Behrend. Flu shots are still available to those students who have not felt the symptoms but who are exposed to the diseases by others. Dr. Gaughun, the Dispensary doctor, has been treating students during his office hours, Monday and Thursday, 11 a.m. to approximately 1 p.m. The number of students being treated at the dispensary is decreasing, and the symptoms appear to be less severe.

JRC Sponsors Winter Weekend

The Joint Residence Council of the Behrend Campus held its first meeting of the Winter Term, Jan. 9, to discuss several proposed JRC sponsored activities.

First on the agenda was the Winter Weekend to be held the weekend of Jan. 27. Co-chairman Mike Chiricuzio suggested a snow sculpture contest and a semi-formal dance. Details concerning time and place are posted throughout the campus.

JRC has set the date for the proposed all-night bowling party for Feb. 17 and the time should be 12 midnight to 4 a.m. The price should be no more than $2.50 per person.

Mike Chiricuzio anticipated that work on the Niagara Hall Recreation Room would begin sometime this week. A technical problem has arisen with the JRC store concerning selling in the dorms, however, JRC and the administration are remaining optimistic about the idea.

Registration Runs Smoothly

Registering for winter term was a breeze for most students. This term all went well without the usual confusion. Some 200 students whose preregistration schedules were misplaced, may have faced disappointment.
