

Behrend Girls Participate in Intercollegiate Sport

This term marks the first year that Behrend will participate in a women's intercollegiate varsity basketball league. The girls will be defending the Greater Erie Intercollegiate Women's Basketball League award for the third consecutive year and the new varsity league has its goals set high as the girls make their debut on Jan. 17 at 2 p.m. with Fredonia State College.

The starting five players for the first game with Fredonia are: Bonnie Angevine, Rhonda Carlson, Sue Cray, Carol Hostettler and Donna Nelson. Bonnie, Rhonda and Sue are in their second year of playing basketball for Behrend.

With Mrs. Laudensack, Instructor in Physical Education, as coach and Miss Willey, Instructor in Anthropology as assistant coach, they have scheduled a total of 10 games between January and March. Admission will be free. Their schedule is as follows:

H	January 17	Fredonia
	6:00
A	January 24	Edinboro
	4:30
H	January 31	Allegheny
	6:30

The girls have been working hard since Sept. in preparation for their first basketball game. They are concentrating on defensive play and the fast break in their efforts to defeat Fredonia. Congratulations on the formation of the new women's intercollegiate varsity basketball team are extended along with a lot of good luck and victories!

The Outdoor Information Center

By Vic Kopnitsky

Welcome back from the holiday vacation. The hunting seasons are now over and most people are out of the woods. The snowmobilers are usually the only ones in the woods this time of the year. There are increasing examples of the misuse of snowmobiles including such things as chasing down deer in heavy snow, damaging farm fences, and destroying golf courses such as the recent vandalism at the Downing course. I would advocate registration and licensing of these vehicles. In any event, if you are a snowmobiler remember that you are not allowed to chase animals or destroy property with your snowmobile.

This is the ice fishing season. Warm boots and a good wind-breaker are necessary to ice fish. The best ice-fishing pole to use in the new design that uses piano wire at the tip. The fish do not feel the piano wire when they take the bait, but the fisherman can see the wire moving as the fish bites. This new pole prevents the fish from dropping a bait attached to an unyielding object. Only two of these poles may be used at a time. Another method of ice fishing that can be used in conjunction with the two poles is the method of using tip-ups. Tip-ups are usually some type of spool to hold fishing line and a flag attached to let the fisherman know when a fish takes the bait. This technique is used for larger fish with minnows or chubs for bait. The fish takes the bait and runs off with it, peeling line off the reel. The flag shows the fisherman that the fish is biting and the fisherman strikes the fish when the run has stopped. If no poles are used five tip-ups may be used. If two poles are used only three tip-ups may be used. That is any combination totaling five devices with a maximum of two poles. Perch, sunfish, crappie, and smelt are usually caught in the bay and waters of the peninsula. Howard Eaton Res., Lake LeBoeuf, and Pymatuning Res. are good places for using tip-ups and chubs for walleyes, muskies, and northern pike. Lake Pleasant is stocked with trout and coho salmon for the winter season. Most bait should be fished near the bottom, within 18 inches of the bottom. When fishing with tip-ups for walleyes the minnow should be near the bottom. When fishing for musky, pike, or salmon the bait should be anywhere between the ice and the bottom at the depth where the fish are feeding. This requires changing the depth of the bait periodically until the right depth is found.

For open water fishing the Allegheny River below the Kinzua Dam and in the Tionesta-Oil City areas are good for walleyes and muskies. Both bait fishing with chubs and jig fishing will take these fish.

Workshops Planned

By Margie Capbell

Art workshops are being planned for winter term to offer introductory instructions in various art forms and mediums. According to a survey taken last term, the workshops most desired by students are basic drawing, macrame, candle making, experimental painting, glass cutting, and guitar. Instructors, either students, faculty members, or interested persons, are needed for these workshops which would run according to the consensus of the group involved. The length and meeting time would depend on the wishes of the persons interested in learning or instructing a craft or art form.

Instructors are available for dance, woodworking, and carving, and photography, if enough students show interest in participating in these sessions. Materials and supplies will be supplied where possible, and for a small fee, such as 25 cents. Meetings could take place Saturdays, common hours, nights, or whenever the interested persons wish to meet.

Students interested in participating in or instructing a workshop can contact Margie Capbell (899-1057) or Robert Haise (864-3208). Behrend as yet doesn't offer instructional art classes, so if you're interested in any medium, feel free to get involved.

Jewish Students Join Discussions

The Jew is not dying; he is alive and going to school at Behrend! How do we know this except for the fact that several Jewish students presently enrolled at Behrend attended an informal discussion in the quiet lounge last Monday night.

If you are a Jewish student on campus, you received a letter in the mail requesting your presence at this discussion. Conducting the meeting were two local Rabbis from the city of Erie, Rabbi Lewis Litman and Rabbi Mordecai Kieffer.

The purpose of this get-together was to make the Jewish population on our campus fully aware that there is a Jewish community in Erie that is deeply concerned and interested with the Jewish students at Behrend.

The rabbis were very enthusiastic about the turnout, which was in this writer's opinion because of the direct correspondence with the student, and not because of the posters that were hung in the school.

Would you believe a PASSOVER SEDER being held here on campus? This, and the possibilities of a rap session and a dance were some of the ideas the students had to offer.

But all these things are only going to be accomplished with the sincere interest of the Jewish student in his involvement with the help of the Jewish community of Erie. They have made the first step in contacting you and showing you that they do care and are sincerely interested in you. The rest is up to you.

Please call or write either Rabbi Kieffer, Jewish Center, 3207 State St., Erie, 416-8979, or Rabbi Littman, Jewish Temple, 930 Liberty St., Erie, 454-2425.

Childbirth

The Childbirth Education Association of Erie announces that the next series of classes in prepared childbirth will begin on Thursday, January 25. The six week course, taught by registered nurses, is especially designed to meet the needs of expectant parents who wish to cooperate actively with the doctor in the birth of their baby. In addition to a series of related childbirth topics, the classes include well-supervised practice sessions for training in preparatory breathing and relaxation techniques.

For further information about CEA of Erie or class registration, call Mrs. Dennis Rositer, 866-2371.

On December 7th, the Civil Aeronautics Board Abolished Youth Fares.

Please cut out and mail the letter below to let Congress know where we stand and that proper legislation is in order to correct this injustice now!

ACT NOW

Dear Congressman:

Please take action to save the Youth Fares and Discount Fares which have recently been abolished by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

I would appreciate it if you would also write the CAB and request that they delay enforcement of this decision until Congress has an opportunity to act on this important question.

Some 5-million students traveled using this discount fare in the past year. This contributed over $400-million to cover fixed costs of the airlines. These carriers can be presumed to have a full grasp of the marketing considerations involved and are, at least, as interested as the CAB in dropping any useless discount fares. Yet, an overwhelming majority of the airlines who participated in the CAB investigation are in favor of these fares.

Millions of students have purchased their Youth Fare identification cards with the belief that the cards would be valid until their 22nd birthday. Now the cards are being abruptly cut off by the CAB's decision.

As one of millions of young voters, I respectfully request that you act to pass legislation that will allow the CAB to discriminate on the basis of age by keeping Youth Fares. I will be anxiously awaiting the results of the coming legislation concerning this matter.
