

FINALS SCHEDULE

Classes for the Winter Term 1975 will officially end Wednesday, February 26. Final examinations will be held on Thursday and Friday, February 27 and 28, as scheduled below.

Students are reminded that the final examination is an integral part of the course, and failure to attend could result in the student's failing the entire course, regardless of the quality of the course work submitted before that date. In accordance with Section 3-4 of the Senate Regulations, a student who is absent from a final examination for a cogent reason may have his grade deferred upon the authorization of the Dean of Faculty.

Any student with two or more final examinations at the same time should file a request for a conflict examination at the time and place specified in advance by the instructor for the course. Any student with three or more examinations on the same day may file a similar request, and conflict examinations will be arranged if feasible.

Cancer
Note: This is the eleventh in a series of weekly articles.

The sign Cancer is ruled by the moon, a changeable, feminine, receptive planet. The Cancer individual is commonly known as the mother of the Zodiac. His first instinct is to care for others. He is a protective, possessive, sensitive person, often moody and occasionally stormy. He views mankind as a parent views a child.

He is the keeper of secrets. Unlike Scorpio whose secrets are his own, a Cancer guards the secrets of others. He is the confidant of many. He doesn't mind listening to your problems even though they may occasionally drain him. He loves to have people ask for his help. He likes to be needed. But no matter how much of your private self you reveal to him, he will rarely, if ever, reveal himself to you.

He is ruled by his emotions. A Cancer would rather feel than think because his feelings are something he understands very well. He is not a rational being. His planet, the changeable moon, keeps him in a constant state of flux. So you will rarely find him taking a firm stand on anything unless it affects his home, family, or loved ones. Home is very important to a Cancer. Home is his fortress. It is the place from which he seeks solace and comfort. He centers a lot of his activities around his home. He won't be especially fond of traveling. He feels that everything he will ever need or desire is within his home.

The Cancer man, if he lets you, is very easy to love. He will rarely escape marriage. In fact, he probably wants to be married.

He enjoys being spoiled and fussed over and since he is usually affectionate and responsive he has little trouble soliciting female companionship. He sometimes takes on the role of "big brother" in his relationships with women. A few warnings though.

He can become extremely possessive and vindictive. And not always in his romantic relationships. You have to be careful with a Cancer man because it is very easy to let him into your heart, but it can be hell trying to get him out.

The Cancer woman is a soft woman. Very sensitive and moody, but extremely feminine. Men find her especially appealing because she is usually warm and responsive. I suppose she is what some men try to put into words when they use the term, "a mothering woman." She is the woman who patches you up and puts you together again when you become all unstrung. She encourages, scolds, and fusses, always lovingly. During her worst moments, she is what is known as a bitch. But she isn't often like that unless she's unhappy or neglected. The love she offers is a choice blend of caring, protecting, and nurturing.

Some Cancers: Sue Harris, Jimmy Hahn, Jimmy Stewart, Mindy Fineberg, Angela Detlev, Terry Alcorn, and Rick Malkin. Instructors: Ed Onorato, and Philip Iobst.

Pop and Rock

By Tom Stanger

Did you know that everything you know is wrong? Well, that's what the Firesign Theatre sez on their latest LP, "Everything You Know Is Wrong." Ever since Phil Austin's "Roller Maiden's From Outer Space" album, it became obvious that these fellows were on the verge of a great scientific break-through. Consider these little-known facts: Dogs flew space ships! The Aztecs invented vacations! Men and women are the same sex! Our forefathers took drugs! Your brain is not the boss! Or at least that's what Professor Harry Cox says.

But of course, no Professor in his right mind would make these claims without empirical proof.

So to support his argument he presents such irrefutable data as rare recordings of "Gas Music from Jupiter," and an amazing trip with host Bob Hind and his guests Buzz and Bunnng Crumhunger down the Colorado River to an Alien Village where they eat moss and dance Frenziedly and are thereby converted into aliens themselves. And these aren't occult kooks! As Prof. Cox says, "I know these people."

The album also includes such "invaluable" ultra-secret information as the steps to take when you sight an alien. 1) Drop under the seat of your plane and look away. 2) Avoid eye contact. 3) If there are no eyes, avoid all contact. The Air Force warns us that if we doubt the validity of these suggestions, we are probably hallucinating.

The high point of the album is when Prof. Cox and a group of residents of the Hellmouth Nudist Trailer Park have their beautiful Travelqueen trailer towed by thirteen seekers to the site of a giant hole in the Arizona Desert into which that famous daredevil Rebus Kneebus is about to jump.

The rules will still be broken. What difference does it really make in the number of hours you break visitation especially since the RA's are not hasseling you?

3) A couple can't have any privacy during the day. You know that lump that's supposed to be in the other bed in your room. It's called a roommate. Guess what? They even have feelings. Yes, they even value their privacy.

I find all of these reasons weak. Granted there are dozens of other reasons, but I think Jeff Johnston hit the nail on the head when he said, "We can't do anything without power" at a meeting last Tuesday night.

That's the issue. Power, the ability to say "We finally got Kochel to break down and give in to us." Big deal!

Why can't you, the student body, get as active in issues that are more constructive and important to you?

There isn't a person on this campus who hasn't sworn to himself at the state of our so called library. Well, just how many of you realize the administration had several members of the Congress here last year talking them into passing a bill allocating money to Behrend for the new library? It passed all right. All the way to Shapp's desk, where it died not two months ago. Where were you then?

Another more constructive issue than visitation is the funding from main campus for student activities. Again, all of you have complained there is nothing to do on campus. Well, with increased funding, things can be done. If any of you actually read Paul Corbran's Editorial Opinion in early January, you may recall that the money allocated per student has gone down over the years. Now that's ridiculous with the cost of everything going up.

Come on Behrend. Make that your awake, finally, how about growing up? You do have power — use it on something constructive and not petty gripes.

P.S. To Mr. Kirk: If anything in last weeks issue of the paper was derogatory towards Mike Woods' letter, it wan't meant that way.
