T. Clyde Kennedy

T. Clyde Kennedy is a third-term resident student, single, 19 years of age, and majoring in Business Administration.

Question: What do you think Behrend's biggest problems are, and, if elected, how would you work to solve these problems?

"Lack of participation in government from the student. Not enough people are getting involved. A lot of people sit around and bitch about the way things are at Behrend; we have had enough bitching. Now it's time to do something about it. I plan to make Behrend more socially active.

"I don't think Behrend has enough to offer its commuters besides academic opportunity. There's not much for commuters

Lenny Young

Lenny Young is a third-term resident student. He is 18 years old, single, and majoring in Environmental Resource Management.

Question: What do you think Behrend's biggest problems are, and, if elected, how would you work to solve these problems?

"My main concern is to provide activities to stimulate involvement in both social and extracurricular areas. Instead of blaming student apathy, I'd like to increase awareness that a governmental body exists on campus for the betterment of both resident and commuting students. The normal, everyday services that are here for the students should be run by the students. For example, the

Student gov't news

By Dan McKay
Editor-in-Chief

Last Monday night's SGA meeting, in the absence of Treasurer Joann Bruno and Secretary Michelle Harding, opened with a safety committee report by Bill Dale. He reported that the fire alarm in Perry Hall will be replaced with a louder, continuous ring alarm. The need for this louder alarm was demonstrated by some students who slept through past fire drills. The area coordinators, he said, have not been holding the drills on their scheduled monthly basis. The training sessions for Resident Assistants in the use of fire extinguishers was hailed as a success. The sessions, provided by the Brookside Fire Department, will be continued next fall. The present procedure for dealing with bomb threats, used in the threat of March 31, was successful, but will be streamlined in the future.

The Student Affairs Committee report showed that at their meeting last Thursday, it was decided that the Collegian will receive financial advice from Paul Bates. Mr. Bates is an Instructor in Finance who has had experience with the Daily Collegian at University Park. Scott Little reported that the Student Affairs Committee resolved to set up a workshop by Larry Skerlong, Assistant to the Dean of Student Affairs, for all faculty members to instruct them on advising. The workshop, to be held next fall, will be coordinated by Dr. Fox, Dean of Faculty.

The May 10 Honors and Awards Banquet was brought up. A motion to give free tickets to the 10 most regular attenders of the SGA meetings was passed. Nominations for the Guy W. Wilson award, it was decided, will be taken at one of next week's three meetings. The award honors the person who has done the most in curricular activities, excluding SGA members. The award is one of many to be presented at the Banquet.

Tim Grosser, reporting on the upcoming Spring Arts Festival, said, "the schedule is all but finalized." He stressed the need for more marshalls. Interested students are to see Doug Roth in 109 Lawrence.

Roger Zanes, reporting on the Free University, said that the first course will be a six-hour rock climb on April 17. Sergeant Donald King of ROTC will instruct the course at the big turn in Wintergreen Gorge. The course is tentatively scheduled to meet at 10:00 a.m. in the lobby of Lawrence Hall. A sign up sheet was placed in the RUB bulletin board.

The interdisciplinary course on Gorge Awareness is scheduled for April 24 and 25. The boating safety course needs 20 people together before it can be taught. The Free University will temporarily be set up as a subcommittee of SGA. Its status is expected to change next year.

The location and times for the SGA Executive Board elections was decided. A table will be set up for 10:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the RUB next Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Another one will be placed in Dobbins Hall next Wednesday and Thursday from 4:30 to 6:30 in the afternoon.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:49 p.m.

Yoculan

Dave Yoculan is a tenth term commuter, married, with a 4 year old daughter. He is 27 years old and majoring in Sociology.

Question: What do you think Behrend's biggest problems are, and, if elected, how would you work to solve these problems?

"The first problem is apathy. Nobody here cares about the school. Everybody's on their way to University Park, and nobody wants to commit themselves. I'm a perfect example myself; I've been going here three years now, and this is the first time I'm getting involved. That's mostly because I now have the time.

"Another problem is funding of the SGA. There isn't enough money, and there really aren't enough alternatives to raise money. Some ways we could

Bomb threat

At 6:45 p.m. last Wednesday, Security received an anonymous bomb threat. The caller, who was never identified, said a bomb, placed somewhere in Lawrence Hall, would go off within an hour. All security personnel and Lawrence Resident Assistants were notified immediately and at 6:40 p.m., Lawrence residents were evacuated from the building, much to the dismay of dormers who were caught in the showers when the fire alarm went off. Responding to the call were the Wesleyville and Brookside fire departments, and the state police. After waiting out the initial time the caller had given for the bomb to go off, Chief Johnston and the Behrend

Security searched all public areas, such as the basement, phone booths, and the lobby. At 8:20 it was called all clear and residents were permitted back into the building.

Financial aid

(UNIVERSITY PARK) Scholarship recipients at Penn State will man the telephones next week to help fellow students in need of financial assistance for their college education.

During an eight-night period, groups of 15 to 20 students will man a battery of telephones and will contact alumni throughout the State asking them to contribute to the University's major scholarship programs.

"We're initiating this program here," said Charles Lupton, executive director of the University's Office of Gifts and Endowments' since more and more Penn State students are having difficulties financing an education."

Dance

Looking for something other than the usual partying to do tomorrow night? Why not try the SUB sponsored dance in Erie Hall, featuring the music of Stillwater, from 9 till 1? Admission is 50 cents with an activity card, and $1.00 without.
