

Let's Get "Kreskinized"

by Robin Baulding
Entertainment Editor

The "Amazing Kreskin" will be appearing at Behrend College in Erie Hall, Thursday, October 27, at 8 p.m. Tickets are now on sale at the RUB desk and at Mace Electronics. General admission is $3.50 and student tickets are $2.50.

Who is Kreskin? Kreskin is an internationally known mentalist, entertainer, author and lecturer. He has performed in live concerts in theatres, nightclubs, universities and on television.

Have you ever heard of anything being "Kreskinized"? Well, the verb "Kreskinize" means to dramatically introduce an idea into someone's thought pattern. It also means to perceive someone pursuing thoughts or introduce an idea into their thought processes by natural and scientific means. This is what Kreskin is about; he "Kreskinizes" people. He calls his skills "an ability to sensitize myself to the attitudes and reactions of people around me."

Kreskin is a renowned author of "The Amazing World of Kreskin." He has his own Kreskin's ESP Game (Milton-Bradley). He works with dentists, physicians and acts as a consultant to a clinical psychologist. He dislikes professed psychics, mind readers, mediums and charlatans who attempt to guide people's lives.

So, come see what "Kreskinizing" is all about. It's been said that it's a feeling one never forgets.

Stoner Encouraged Over IM

by Michele McWhertor
Collegian Staff Writer

Intramurals at Behrend College are a welcome diversion from the frustrations of classes. This year is no exception. Coach Clarence Stoner is encouraged by the student response.

Fall term activities, which include flag football, golf, soccer (m and f) and 3-man basketball (m and f), are already well underway. The limelight now is focusing on flag football, where the top six teams are fighting for the championship.

This year the semi-finals have been organized under a new method. The top team of each section plays the third ranked team of the other division. The two middle teams battle one another.

In the final chapter of the competition, the following teams have survived: Degraders, Ace's Chiefs, Rookies, The Old Men, Crunch Bunch, and The Force. First place team will hopefully play an extramural game against Mercyhurst next week.

Women's soccer, although hampered by poor weather conditions, appears to be a popular sport judging by the six "wild and wily" teams in contention. Half-way through the season already, the girls promise a close battle for the championship.

Men's soccer is not definitely scheduled yet because of a lack of interest. Any male student who enjoys soccer is encouraged to initiate his team.

Three-man basketball, which begins its season next week, will be played on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8:30 p.m. A large amount of participation is hoped for by the intramural staff.

Activities to look forward to in the winter include basketball, bowling, and co-ed volleyball. Intramurals provide an excellent alternative to the boring Behrend blues. Why not get involved?

It Seems Warmer In The Hay

by Tim Kenney
Collegian Staff Writer

It wasn't exactly a balmy night. The temperature was near 40 degrees with a gusty wind that sent a chill through the air. Leaves were blowing around and there wasn't a cloud in the sky. It was near perfect weather for a hayride.

Outside the RUB lot, there were nearly 80 people anxiously awaiting the arrival of the tractor and hay. When it finally came, the mob had to be divided into two groups. I went with the second group, which boarded the hay wagon at 10:00. As we went down the road, people started singing songs and telling jokes. Some just thought of where to eat afterwards. When we got to the campgrounds, the bonfire was already a blaze.

We rushed to its much welcomed heat where we were greeted by people from the first group with cider and marshmallows. After getting my shoes drenched from wandering around trying to find a long, thin stick, I finally settled on a log. (No, I am not a toad). After roasting my mallows to the point of being charcoal, and drinking enough cider to drown a fish, the fire was put out and we all boarded the wagon again.

We rode for nearly 45 minutes around the countryside. During the course of that ride, a few Christmas carols were sung out. (Wrong date, but it was cold enough!) I knew I felt the cold because the zipper on my jacket kept splitting, which made it difficult to keep warm.

Well, the evening came to an end around midnight. Some of us went home and some stayed and talked with their friends and otherwise. It was super to see how so many people from so many different areas of the state got along so well.

Hats off to the SUB. Hope they create more fun times in the future.

Linda Raub puts up a struggle to avoid being thrown into the bonfire last Friday night.

Bromberg Hits Allegheny

by Deirdre McCauley
Collegian Staff Writer

On October 8, David Bromberg band, tight and full of life, appeared at Allegheny College. There was a current of electric excitement flowing through each member of the band, resulting in an evening of fine folk and jazz music and good feeling. The band consists of two fiddlers, a drummer, base player, rhythm guitarist, and two instrumentalists who switched off and on from sax, trombones, trumpet, flute, and clarinet.

David Bromberg gave his usual excellent show. He played the fiddle, acoustic, and electric guitar. Two of his best numbers were rollicking, hard-hitting and high energy "Judge Send Me To the Electric Chair" and "I'll Be Your Lover, Your Friend, But I Won't Be Your Fool." The latter is a Bromberg original, full of spite and cynicism about women who 'done the wrong.'

If you've never seen David Bromberg, you're missing one of the best performers around. He plays fine music, he sings fine songs and he makes you feel good. What more can you ask for?
