Historical Society Looks For Volunteers

Volunteers are needed to assist with a survey of historical sites in western Erie County. The Erie County Historical Society, under the direction of Mr. John Claridge, has received a grant from the Pennsylvania Office of Historic Preservation to conduct a survey of sites of potential historical interest in the townships of Franklin, Springfield, Conneaut, Elk Creek, Girard, and Fairview. The object of the survey is to identify buildings which can be nominated for listings on the National Historical Register and to provide data for

A Lecture To Be Presented

Tonight at 7:30 p.m. Joe Kadajski will give a lecture entitled "The History of Erie as Reflected in its Architecture." The talk, to be given in Turnbull 204, will include a slide show.

Kadajski, who is majoring in American Studies at Behrend, says that the idea for the topic began to form at the beginning of the Fall term, when his advisor, Prof. Simmons, suggested he do a year long project related to his major.

After considering several in-municipal planning.

Sites have been identified, and volunteers are needed to visit them and bring back descriptions. The Historical Society hopes to locate a number of individuals willing to give a few hours a week this summer to field work on this project. Volunteers will be given an orientation meeting at the Society to train them in the objectives of the survey and they will be provided with checklists and forms to guide their reports. Volunteers will need to be able to provide their own transportation, and arrangements can be made to reimburse them for travel expenses. Questions concerning the project may be addressed to Mr. Claridge at the Erie County Historical Society (417 State St.) or Dr. A.D. Frankforter ((106 Turnbull Hall).

teresting alternatives, Joe decided to do a project that would allow him to work with primary sources in the local area. Having an interest in architecture, he found several fine examples of historically important buildings in Erie.

He thought that it would be fascinating to uncover their significance in the community's development. The primary emphasis of the presentation tonight will be on the historical development, using a slide lecture approach, which should be of general interest to anyone.

The lecture is open to the public, and there is no charge.

Continuity Assured For Nursing Program

An agreement reached with the Hamot Medical Center assures no interruption in the continuity of associate degree nursing education in the Erie area for at least the next two years.

Provost Edward Eddy announced that Penn State has agreed to accept a freshman class into the associate degree nursing program this fall at Behrend College with the understanding that incoming students may complete their second year of education at another local college.

Villa Maria College has been discussing with Penn State the process of taking the necessary steps to initiate an associate degree program at Villa by the fall of 1980. Assuming the success of this effort, students enrolling at Behrend this fall may transfer into the other program.

If no new associate degree nursing program is approved by the State Board of Nurse Examiners, Dr. Eddy said that Behrend would continue its associate degree program through 1981 for purposes of graduating the freshmen starting in the fall of 1979.

This has been made possible through an agreement for continuing support arranged between the University and Hamot Medical Center. Hamot has agreed to pay Penn State $100,000 for the 1979-80 academic year, in accordance with its existing contract. If Behrend continues the program through the 1980-81 academic year, Hamot will underwrite the Behrend program in the amount of 50 per cent of the direct costs for the year up to a maximum of $50,000.

Happy Summer

The staff members of the Behrend Collegian extend their thanks to those of you who helped make the Collegian a consistent newspaper by helping to put the paper out on a weekly basis. This includes the writers, the photographers, the advertisers, the layouts and the readers. The Collegian wishes everyone a safe, exciting and adventous summer.
