Peace Corps Needs Volunteers

Peace Corps urgently needs individuals to serve as volunteers with skills in math and science education, agriculture, forestry and fisheries, home economics and nutrition, or civil engineering.

Math and science teachers are ranked highest on the mostneeded list. In some developing countries, a student's ability to score high on entrance exams determines whether he or she will attend high school. According to one Peace Corps volunteer serving on Togo, the education system is such that it is harder for a Togolese student to get into high school than into college. It is important that increasing numbers of people in developing nations gain post secondary education to fill the leadership positions in their countries that tional workshops are being planned for the Commonwealth Campuses.

FACULTY COUNCIL-SENATOR CAUÇUS

The next Caucus meeting will occur on Friday, January 29, at 12:10 p.m. in The Memorial Room.

Lambda Sigma sponsored 'Superdance USA,'' held from Friday, January 8th at 8 p.m. until Saturday, January 9th at 8 p.m. All money collected by the event went to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Cheryl Clair and Steve Schless, by collecting the most amount of money through their sponsors and by completing all 24 hours of the dance were awarded 1st prize of two portable black and white TV sets. Second place was taken by Karen Davon and Rich Doane; Christie Miller and Cy Erikson came in third.

A hand, or maybe new feet, should be given to all those that participated.

The blood bank will be on Campus February 3 and 4, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. It will be parked in the Reed Parking Lot. Many thanks from the nurses in the Dispensary for your generous contributions to the Blood Bank also thanks from the blood bank and the recipients of your donations.

JVC Launches Contest

Move over "Academy Awards," the second annual JVC Student Video Competition is underway. Sponsored by US JVC CORP., this nationwide contest offers both students and schools he chance to gain industry recognition of original work and to win video equipment prizes.

The competition is open to fulltime students in graduate schools, college or high school, art, video, film or performing arts school in the United States. Entrants must be 16 years of age or older.

Students can submit original video programs in any or all of three categories: News short (5-minute limit), documentary (20-minute limit) and creative (20-minute limit). A panel of three judges each prominent in the video industry, will judge the programs on the basis of originality, 40 per cent; use of medium, 40 per cent; and clarity of the program's objective, 20 per Grand prize, second and third place winners will be selected in each program category.

In addition to the $1,000 scholarship, each Grand prize winner will receive JVC video equipment worth $2,000 (manufacturer's suggested retail price). The Grand prize winner's school will receive JVC video equipment worth $2,000.

Each second place winner and his or her respective school will receive $1,600 in video equipment, and each third place winner and school will each receive $1,000 in video equipment.

Additionally, JVC will fly all the winners to an "Academy Awards-like" ceremony in New York City. Complete contest rules and entry forms may be obtained from the Collegian. Deadline is March 1, 1982.

have opened since independence. Other skills badly needed by the Peace Corps include in-dustrial arts and vocational education, mechanics, medical lab technology, and occupational and physical therapy.

In Zaire, for instance, children suffer from malnutrition because there is no skilled labor to maintain vehicles to transport food. "There is an incredible need in Zaire for mechanics who can repair and maintain vehicles," says Baudouin de Marcken, former Peace Corps country director for Zaire. It is critical that Zaire begin to develop vocational and training courses in everything, from auto repair to carpentry, according to de Marcken.

The work of a single skilled volunteer can trigger benefits in many areas of community life. A recent agriculture volunteer in Honduras pointed out that improving the diet of local children resulted in better health, which increased school attendance and opened the way to a better education.

As Peace Corps moves into the decade of the 80s, the agency will begin to consider means of making a greater impact on the people whom they strive to help. At the agency's 20th anniversary conference, held in June at Howard University in Washington, D.C., Prime Minister Edward Seaga of Jamaica called for more agronomists, agriculturists, and others to help train his people. He wants to see Peace Corps work in those areas that have more of a multiplier effect.

Peace Corps director Loret Miller Ruppe stated in her speech before the 1981 summer commencement of Northern Michigan University in Marquette that Peace Corps can take well-motivated Americans and train them for service in the Third World.

"We train them to be able to encourage village farmers to dig a pond, fill it, stock a fast-growing fish, and within three months they can harvest a crop of protein-rich food and refill the pond and start the cycle anew,' maintained Mrs. Ruppe. To provide a place that might have a 50 per cent infant mortality rate, 50 to 70 per cent malnutrition and an annual per capita average income of $180, with a system of productive fish ponds gives the whole area a source of income and a source of protein. This gives them a future, she said.

Persons interested in information about service in the Peace Corps may call 800-424-8580, Ext. 93, toll free, or write Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. 20525.

Army ROTC. Now you can take it in 2 years, too.

If you missed taking Army ROTC in your first two years of college, you may not have missed out. Because of the Army ROTC Two-Year program. You'll have to attend a special six-week camp the summer before your junior year. But you'll be well paid for it.

And altogether, you'll earn a total of about $2,900 to help you through your last two years of college. Then you'll earn a commission as an officer at the same time you earn a college degree.
