

THEATRE CALLBOARD

by Jim Fiorilli

UPDATE

Behrend Theatre never rests! After the closing of "Say Good-night, Gracie" this weekend, the Studio theatre is getting ready to open its second show of the season, "Godspell".

Godspell, the soft rock musical, has been undergoing rehearsals for the past few weeks and looks like they have their work cut out for them before their opening on November 5.

The ensemble of the show includes: Don Carmichael, Randy Murzynski, Sean McHugh, Fred Becker, David Travis, Mary Beth Finke, Monic Lewis, Pam Durst, Dawn Wagner, Stephanie Marra, Carolyn Brust, Joe Fiorilli, Adam Green and Kaisa Ajaye.

Guest Director, John Burton, is assisted by dancer/choreographer Denise DiGiorgio and they are assisted by stage manager Suzanne D'Angelo. John Burton gives the cast amazing vocal direction and has done fabulous choreography. Mr. Burton hails from New York and has been in many Erie Playhouse productions along with many shows performed in bordering eastern states. Along with Paul Iddings supervising the directing, the show is slowly coming to a head.

Mr. Iddings and Mr. Burton have been asked to bring their production of "Godspell" to the stage of the Erie Dinner Theatre. This is available to all during the 17, 18, and 19 of November at the Maennerchor Club. Tickets are available through the Maennerchor Club and the Behrend Theatre office.

Edgar Lansbury, Stuart Duncan, Joseph Beruh have thrilled theatre-going people for years with their musical adaption of the gospel according to St. Matthew. There will be no exceptions with these performances. The Behrend Players will send chills to the theatre patrons of Erie and the Tri-State area as well.

The set of this show is being designed by the talented Sandy Duncan, whose work we have seen in previous Behrend productions. The chief in the orchestra pit will be our own Marjorie Podoldky as her fingers glide over those ivory keys.

This ensemble is already showing so much natural talent that it is looking quite evident that they will be on their way to the American Theatre Festival. As in any show, there are always improvements to be made, but these talented young singers and dancers and actors seem to be on the way to making an entrancing "Godspell".

Make sure you are available to partake in the celebration with the entire ensemble of "Godspell". It previews November 2, 3, 4, with performances beginning on the 5 and running the 6, 7, and the 10 through the 14. For reservations call Behrend at 898-1511 ext. 331.

Pre-Registration Coming

Pre-registration for Winter Term runs October 25th through the 29th. The Records Office will accept pre-registration from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. throughout the week. Students should make an appointment with their advisor during pre-registration week.

According to the Records Office, students who pre-register must also register. Registration can take place by Early Registration or by regular registration. Early registration takes place at the Records Office Tuesday through Friday, November 16-19. Regular registration will be held on Wednesday, December 1. Early registration is only for those students who pre-registered. All others must attend regular registration.

Winter Term timetables are now available in the Records Office and it is recommended that students have course selections in mind before they see their advisor.

Behrend Briefs

POETRY / FICTION READING ... A creative event sponsored by "ROUNDTABLE," the new literary organization on campus. The event will include, but is not limited to, original poetry and fiction. "Roundtable" organization invites all poets, storytellers, thespians, troubadours and musicians to the Gorge Cafeteria on Thursday, November 4. The reading will begin at 7:30 p.m. Free coffee and doughnuts await all participants. "Roundtable" members say that you don't have to read anything if you're shy; just come and listen.

Book Review: Mr. Benjamin A. Lane will review the book, "Mont St. Michel and Chartres," by Henry Adams for the library's series, "Books Make a Difference." Mr. Lane will speak on Thursday, October 28, 1982, from noon till one in the Library Seminar Room. All are invited. Refreshments will be served.

Limerick Writing Contest: A limerick contest is currently underway, sponsored by the Top of the Hill Gang. According to this club, entries will be based on humor and originality.

There are also no restrictions regarding subject matter. Deadline date for all submissions is November 15. Prizes offered to date include: A free perm and/or haircut from Judy's Hair Care and a five-dollar gift certificate from Super Duper West.

Winners will be invited to read their entries at an awards ceremony on December 13.

Yearbook Revived

For the first time since 1978 Behrend College will have a yearbook. Working with Taylor Publishing Company, editor Brett Andrews and the yearbook staff will present the 184-page "Cub" to this year's student body.

Seniors will have their picture taken as they did back in high school. They will be able to purchase their pictures from the photographer as well as have them taken for the yearbook.

All underclassmen and commuters will be in group shots. Underclassmen will be photographed by floor or by major, depending on which is the easiest way to get everyone together at the same time.

Posters will be placed around campus to inform commuters that they should meet somehow, perhaps in neighborhood groups, and decide who will be in which group shot. This is important; if you want your picture in the yearbook, get a meeting together.

Yearbooks are on sale until the end of October, for $16.50. A table will be set up in the Reed Building by the Main Desk. Delivery from the publisher should be at the end of May.

Everyone will be in the yearbook - students, faculty and staff. If anyone wants to purchase advertising space, they will be most welcome.

With student cooperation and a good amount of sales, the 1983 Cub staff hopes to produce a winner this year.
