New Texts Published by Larson and Hostetler

cycle. A group consists of the text(s) and their supplements (solutions guides and instructor's guides).

For example, the third edition of Calculus will be out in 1986 and will feature two different texts and eight supplements. It will be followed in 1987 by the revision of the business calculus group, and in 1988 a new technical math series will be introduced. Then in 1989, four years after the publication of its first edition, the Precalculus series will be revised."

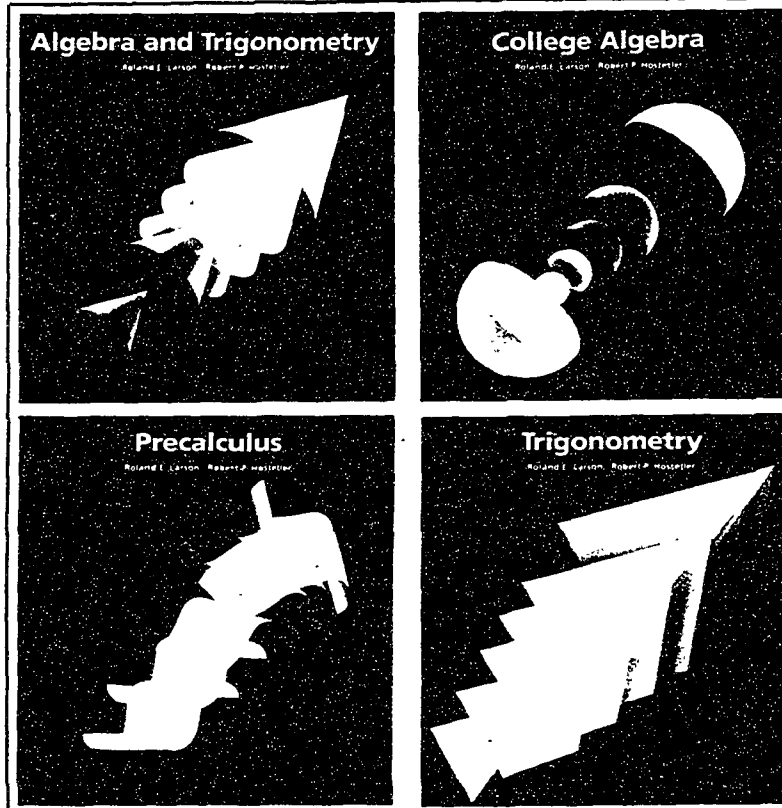

An eight-chapter linear algebra manuscript written by Larson and Hostetler was used last semester since the Behrend bookstore was unable to get copies of the previously used text. When asked if and when the text would be completed, Larson would not reveal exactly who would finish it, but said, "Since we will be too busy to finish it (linear algebra) someone else will be brought in to complete the book."

Larson, Hostetler, and Heyd have a "Division of Science, Engineering, and Technology Scholarship" which is funded by the royalties received from textbook sales.

As is with most universities, research done by faculty is essentially property of the university, but with the publication of textbooks, universities do not receive a percentage of sales.

Larson comments, "The Pennsylvania State University, or any other school, benefits indirectly from textbooks published by the faculty. It reflects back on the school favorably, especially when prospective students are choosing a college or university to attend."

Students Urged to Line up Private Scholarships Now

Deadlines are quickly approaching for summer and fall financial aid, according to The Scholarship Bank.

Students with financial needs should begin now to investigate some of the more than 25,000 private aid sources, according to Steve Danz, Director. These funds are available to students with interests in a number of fields, and many do not depend on demonstrated financial need, as do state and federal funds. For example, students with an interest in business, law, and accounting can receive a stipend from the Exceptional Student Fellowship Fund, and apply to the parent corporation for full time work following graduation.

The Scholarship Bank is the largest private scholarship bank in the country for undergraduate and for graduate grants and loans. The computer can help you find sources designed just for you, based on your major, occupational goal, geographic desires, type of aid requested (scholarships, loans, summer work), and special skills and hobbies. According to the director, the computer guarantees each student at least fifty sources of aid. It has been estimated that each package of aid represents approximately $20,000 in potential money for college. Private aid comes from America's largest foundations, corporations, unions, and private donors and totals approximately 500 million dollars, or one fourth of all available aid. Thus, it is an extremely valuable addition to the private and state moneys available. As an example of the depth of search, the bank reports one student found thirty-six sources for the most unusual major of "deep sea diver." Students wishing to use the search should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to The Scholarship Bank, 10100 Santa Monica, no. 2600, LA, CA 90067.
