Placement Center Provides Employment Information

by Lisa Pavadore
Collegian Feature Editor

Every year, many students have the problem of finding summer jobs. Obtaining summer employment can be aggravating and disappointing but there are jobs out there for students who know where to look. The Placement Office on the second floor of the Administration Building has summer job sources to be used by interested students.

A pamphlet from the United States Office of Personnel Management regarding summer employment, provided by the federal government, can be found in the Placement Office.

While most of the jobs listed are located in the Washington D.C. area, there is a list of the federal agencies for each state that one can contact to obtain a list of regional employment opportunities. Some effort is required on the student's part, but the qualifications for obtaining employment are easy to fulfill and the pay looks pretty good.

Summer work-study employment is available for on and off campus. Eligibility for summer work study is based on financial need, determined by filing a 1985-86 need analysis document and a summer 1985-86 financial aid application. Both of these applications can be obtained from the Financial Aid Office in the Administration Building.

Once these forms are processed, the university determines financial eligibility for work-study. This award is applicable to both in-state and out-of-state students.

Employers in Cape Cod, Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket will be hiring students for summer employment. A catalog of these jobs can be acquired by sending a business size, self-addressed, stamped envelope with $3 to: Cape Cod Summer Job Bureau Box 594, Room 5 Barnstable, MA 02630. If a summer on the beach sounds interesting, this might be worth the effort.

There is other local summer employment opportunities information in the Placement Office. Many students wait until it is too late to apply for jobs. The time to apply is now.
