Question:

In case you haven't noticed, Behrend is building a new bookstore. This has upset a lot of people here because they feel that the money should be spent on building a new library. But to others, it doesn't matter. With this in mind we decided to find out for ourselves: How do you feel about Behrend enlarging the bookstore before improving the library?

Jim Turconi
6th semester
Management

"The bookstore is a very good idea and I like it. I don't care (about the library) cause I'm leaving in a year and it's no big deal. I just go to the library to study, I don't have any research to do so it really doesn't bother me."

Greg Eyerman
4th semester
Engineering

"They should improve the library because that directly affects the students more than the bookstore. Yeah, they need a new bookstore but I say they should have a new library first."

Heather Sizer
2nd semester
DUS

"I think the reason that they're letting the bookstore first is because the plans went through first. I think they were planning on doing the library first but then the budget wasn't right so they just did the bookstore. I think they really should do the library first cause I don't know, it just makes the campus seem like they're after more money and stuff."

Bill Hallinan
4th semester
Physics

"I think it sucks. They're charging us enough in the bookstore for all of these books and they're not giving us a decent facility to study in or giving us enough references to go along with what we need for classes. They should make arrangements for our studies before our wallets."

Dianna Ertman

Education

"I feel that the library... is lacking a lot of the books that they really need. It's a bad idea to do the bookstore first."

MX-6

Imagine: A high-performance luxury sports coupe for less than an average-car price.

PATENTED REAR SUSPENSION, 12-VALVE FUEL-INJECTED POWER-AND EXCEPTIONAL VALUE.

Mazda's all-new MX-6 DX compares with costly European luxury sports coupes in performance and road-car manners, yet it's priced below the average cost of a new car today. And the driving fun is so far beyond average, you'll wonder how Mazda could engineer so much more car for the money. A new 12-valve, fuel-injected 2.2-litre engine, quick 5-speed overdrive, and exclusive patented rear suspension give MX-6 a world-class road action that more than matches the luxury and comfort you'll find inside. Come drive it and see!
