

Collegian Photo Feature

Is Darren really the phone?

You want me to do what???

I got it! I got it! I got it!

Are we stressed, Ray?

Another happy ending!

Chess anyone?

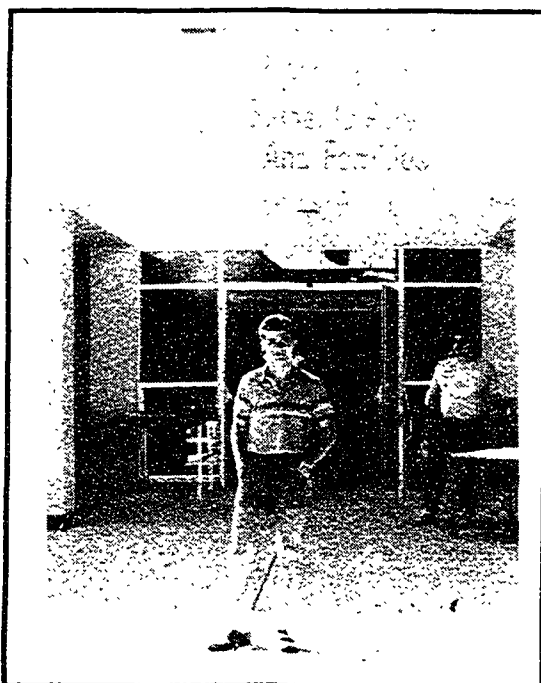

A Nittany Lion at heart.

And the winners are...

Hi, nice to meet you.

Hi, Mom and Dad.

Orientation Week

photos and story by Marybeth Zawistoski

Orientation activities began a Behrend student, the intramural's Saturday, August 20 with new sneak preview kept students busy student check in. The morning was all afternoon and a visit from the filled with a variety of opportunities Shiloh Baptist Choir filled the early for new students and their families evening's air with inspiration. to get a feel for Behrend's classroom Later, students boogied the night atmosphere through the College away at JRC's first dance of the Enhancement Series which featured a number of Behrend's colorful staff members.

Monday, August 22 began with the opening ceremony in Erie Hall, immediately followed by the first of the afternoon's events were marked by the first of many picnics to be held in the Wilson Picnic Grove. The day was highlighted by students met with a pre-assigned playfair, deemed the "Ultimate ice-orientation leader and faculty/staff breaker." Hundreds of students member to discuss George Orwell's gathered on the hillside behind the essay "Shooting an Elephant." Science building to participate in Students then attended college comedy routines and competitive representative meetings to learn games. Exercises in group dynamics about their prospective majors. included back-to-back dancing and standing ovations.

The College Enhancement Series continued throughout Monday Later, students tried their luck at afternoon. The evening's highlights black jack, poker, roulette and even included a faculty panel discussion a horse race during Behrend's followed by a "Drive-in" movie traditional Las Vegas Night, featuring "Airplane." bringing day one to a close.

Sunday, August 21 was a day marked by the variety of scheduled students had their first opportunity to experience Coffee with the events. A hiking tour of the Provost. A rainy afternoon put a Wintergreen Gorge, Sunday with damper on many 'small group' the Times, lounging at the pool, activities which were scheduled to student-run workshops about 'life as be held outside.