

Campus Happenings

"It's squishy... what's in there?" asked this visitor of Jim Wester who brought out his pet snake Halloween night to share with the Wee People. "Wee People" is a JRC sponsored event which provides children of faculty and staff members and kids from the Gertrude Barber Center with a safe place to do their trick-or-treating.

photo by Jeff Majcher

Dave Rudolph, musician/comedian, left members of his audience with puppet memoirs.

"Geez... what an animal!"

photo by Sandy Inman

photo by Marybeth Zawistoski

"We came, we saw, we danced our butts off!" Maurica George, Ray Van Dussen and Jen Neumann were three dedicated participants in Commuter Council's 24 hour dance marathon.

Contestants in WBCR's Halloween costume contest illustrate a variety of ways to sway the judges. The Devil and Guido size up the judges with "I'll see you when it's over in a dark alley" expressions while the wicked witch of the East and a pregnant woman (woman?) chat apparently uninhibited by the tenseness of the contest. Pebbles and Bam Bam anxiously observe Jeanie's intense concentration as she tries to cast a spell upon the audience. Joe Rambo loudly cocks his automatic weapon while the obscene man flirts with Pebbles. Boba Fetu contemplates vaporizing the judges and making off with the prize money.

photo by Tracy Cross

"Yah, baby wash those jeans in clorax one more time!" These hole infested performers showed their stuff during the ABC sponsored Talent Show last Thursday, Nov. 3.