

"Do ya' think Nixon is saving his Peace Plan for the '72 Presidential Campaign?"

Junior Elections Held

... Linda DeCarolis
It was election time once again at Capitol Campus. The "hidden persuaders" were plastered on every wall and door in the administration building. The campaigning was quiet but very effective. Fifteen candidates were in the running, but only eight could win. Three "at-large" and one from each curriculum.

Speeches were given the night before the election. Each candidate was introduced and voiced his views on the job of a senator. Then all went back to the dorms anticipating the results which wouldn't be announced until the victory dance that night.

The dance was crowded since students were there waiting thirstily for the announcement of the winner of the cheerleader's raffle. Others were standing nervously to see if their candidate had won the election. Others were just there to enjoy the band.

Diane Walton and Dave Carey, who were in charge of elections, did a fine job. The winners are:

Rosemary Bennett-Social Science Senator. She attended H.A. C.C. where she was the secretary of the SGA, Vice-president of her sorority, and active in many other groups. Rosemary's home is in Lemoyne, Pa.

Barry Kimmel-Humanities Senator. He attended Montgomery County Community College and he resides in Philadelphia.

Dan Ross was elected Elementary Education Senator.

Chas Kznaric-Business Senator. Chas is from the Pittsburgh area and he attended Allegheny Community College, Boyle Campus. He was active in the Social Club, the Advertising Committee, and was president of the Bowling Club.

Al Litwak-Engineering Senator. Al is from Collingswood, New Jersey. He graduated from Spring Garden College where he was the secretary of SGA, president of Gamma Delta Iota and was the editor of the college newspaper.

Eric Murray-Senator at Large. Eric is from New York City, and he attended Keystone Junior College. There he was vice-president of his class, editor of the yearbook, and a member of Phi Theta Kappa, the national honor fraternity.

Sal Paradise-Senator at Large. Sal is from Pittsburgh. He graduated from Allegheny Community College where he was active in the social committee, the tennis team, and chairman of many campus functions.

Bernie Schonbach-Senator at Large. Bernie is from Southampton, Penna. He attended Ogontz Campus. He was an active member of intramurals, A.S.T.M.E. chairman, and sports editor of the paper.

These are the winners! These are the senators you elected. They are eager and willing to work for you. Voice your complaints to them, let them know what you want.

Added Credit Info

... Richard Donahoe
In the interest of a better informed student body, The Capitolist is publishing information concerning the transfer of credits in addition to those that were accepted by Capitol Campus when you entered as a seventh term Junior. It is possible to have this school accept additional credits that could be applied to an earlier graduation date or provide a lighter schedule through your terms at Capitol Campus.

To accomplish additional credit transfer, the procedure is as follows:

1. See your adviser to obtain the necessary form.
2. Obtain transcripts from previous institution.
3. Carefully study the Capitol Campus catalog to find courses that are equivalent or roughly equivalent to those you have taken and wish to have transferred in.
4. See your adviser for help on the best selections. You will need his approval and the approval of the department head before the petition can be brought to Dr. Eisenstein for final approval.

The courses are entered on your record as credit by examination, which simply means the grade you received in the original course is the grade you received in your credit by examination. There is a fee involved and there is a limit to the number of additional credits you can have transferred, but it is worth the effort when you succeed in having previously unrecognized credits accepted.

"Capitol" Radio

Have you heard the voice of Capitol Campus? What voice? The most entertaining voice certainly. It's Radio Station WZAP, 640 on the AM radio dial. "ZAP" serves Capitol Campus fourteen hours a day beginning with the Linda Clark show at 11 a.m. and signing off with "The Night Talk Show," featuring Pete Uhnidt from 12 midnight to 1 a.m.

ZAP features music, news, and community information. The programming itself is designed in a manner which allows each disc jockey to run his show as he wishes.

The station is currently undergoing extensive changes in equipment to improve signal strength in Wrisberg Hall and the Meade Heights area. If the signal is weak in your area, it should increase within the next few weeks.

The station's manager is Jim Fogarty, Program Director and Business Manager is Joe Glica, News Director Don Hossler. The lines of WZAP are always open to students and faculty alike. Anyone wishing to voice opinions or requests are urged to make them known by calling the station at 944-9533.

Wisdom of Spiro Agnew

Dogs

Do we rattle in a vast can creating howls on noise but never a wimper of wisdom . . . . I hope but I doubt . . . . you come to see that there are no highbreds in the human race. Only half-harted lost mongrels but I am optimistic about the whole thing? I will read more and the rationalization will help protect me and give me the illusion of contentment. For a time the distraction is valuable I know . . . . . The introspection arrises out of a selfish loneliness I know. . . . . But they are so stupid, can there be hope as they guide with there inches of insight. I have great potenchal to be a drunk.
