CAPITOL CAMPUS — Middletown, Pa.

September 24, 1970

Pre-Election Activities On Campus

Students at Capitol Campus received a letter from Campus Director Coleman Herpel and Student Government President Lee Levan during the summer. It concerned students working for political candidates in November. The following is the text of the statement:

For the Fall Term 1970, upon recommendation of the Student Government Association and with the concurrence of the Faculty Council the following procedures will be in effect to assist students in adding active participation in pre-election political activity to their regular academic program activity.

The specific recommendations of the Student Government Association are that each student will have three choices for action during the two-week period beginning on Wednesday, October 21, and ending on Election Day, Tuesday, November 3:

1. He may attend regular classes.
2. He may notify his instructor that he will make up the work of the two weeks during which he does not attend classes. (See items A and B below).
3. With his instructor's permission, the two weeks spent working for candidates will count as credit toward course work.

The Faculty Council added comments for clarification:

- A. That a student must consult with his instructor early in the term regarding each individual course which he may choose not to attend on a regular basis but for which he accepts full responsibility to complete course requirements.
- B. That course requirements in each course are to be completed by the end of the Fall Term.

The Campus Director points out that these procedures are not the same as those instituted on an ad hoc basis in May 1970 for the Spring Term 1970. The S/U grading basis is available only at the regular time and under the usual conditions for student choice at the end of the normal drop-add period. Also, the deferred grade privilege is available only on the regular basis of work not completed because of circumstances beyond a student's reasonable control, such as illness, accident, or other extenuating circumstances.

Fall Term Begins Today! 550 New Juniors Enroll

Capitol Campus begins its Fall term today with 630 returning students and 550 new juniors arriving from all parts of Pennsylvania and surrounding states.

Miss Mary Gundel of the Admissions Office estimates 1180 undergraduates will register. This is an increase of 50 students over last year's enrollment. Housing on campus will be provided for 732, or 61% of the students. Meade Heights is reported full, as is Church Hall. Men will be living in the first floor of Wrisberg, also.

You may wonder where the new juniors attended college before Capitol. The breakdown is as follows:

- 56% community colleges, including 28% from HAAC alone,
- 26% commonwealth campuses,
- 8% Penna. junior colleges,
- 6% four year colleges,
- 4% out-of-state.

Men total 396 in the Junior Population. And, as usual, there are only 154 women in the class. The number of women enrolled in each program is as follows:

- 75 elementary education,
- 39 humanities,
- 32 social science,
- 7 business
- 1 water resources

A New Look for Capitol Campus

Some new facilities have been added during the summer and some physical changes were made.

Of the new additions, most noticeable is the food service installation in the Main Building. The cafeteria line will be open Monday through Friday during the day, while the vending machines will be available whenever the building is open. A new Vender-ville at last!

Other changes in the Main Building include establishment of a large student-faculty art gallery and lounge area on the first floor in Rooms W-107 to W-113. The television lounge has been moved from the basement to Room W-110, while W-112 has been designated as an office suite for several student organizations.

Additional space is available for use by student organizations this year with the establishment of offices for the newspaper and yearbook staffs and the photography club in the Placement Building. Adjacent to these is a newly equipped darkroom for use by these organizations as well as by all students and faculty who are interested in photography.

A new surface has been put on the floor of the gymnasium, giving it a new look.

To assist incoming Juniors and their visiting families, new signs now label Meade Heights, the dorms, and the Dining Hall. There are also attractive new signs concerning dogs!
