

News Briefs of Esoteric Interest

BOWLING LEAGUE

The 1970 Bowling Leagues are now being organized. Any man or woman interested in being a member of a team should complete a "sign-up" form available from the Athletic Building (phone 787-7751). Persons may sign up as an individual or by team. Be sure to indicate the name of the team on your application.

These forms must be completed and returned by Wednesday, September 30, 1970.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS NEWS

Trying to start a "general store" in Meade Heights. Anyone interested in helping (and we do need your help) please contact Jim McLean at 845B Kirtland Street.

SIMPLE SUPPER OF THE WEEK

Meatloaf A La Meade Heights

Ingredients:

- 2 lb. ground beef
- ½ cup bread crumbs
- 1 slightly beaten egg
- ½ small chopped onion
- 1 can tomatoe soup
- salt and pepper

Combine beef, crumbs, egg, onion, ½ can of soup, salt and pepper. Form into loaf and dot with butter. Place in baking dish and put in preheated (350) oven. After one-half hour, pour remaining soup over meatloaf and bake for another half-hour. Serve with an oregano salad and baked potatoes.

NOTICE:

The faculty in Meade Heights are great! Visit them. . . We learn by sharing, so share with one another!

POET'S CORNER (?)

THE HOT LION STORY

Once there was a student,
Who didn't know what to do,
He'd been wandering around the campus,
His mind. . . it nearly "blew"!
He saw a piece of paper
Lying on the floor
It was the mighty "Hot Lion",
Alas!

Life was no longer a bore!
For in the mighty "Hot Lion",
Was the listing of events
That take place at Capitol Campus
From dances to pitching tents.
So now he reads it faithfully,
And his moral is. . . my friend,
If you read the mighty "Hot Lion"
The "nothing to do" syndrome will end!

PAX.

JOIN! JOIN! JOIN!

Watch the Bulletin Boards for Club Meetings!

President Oswald (center) speaks with Dean of Faculty, Dr. Richard Heindel (left) and Campus Director, Mr. Coleman Herpel in front of the Ad Building.

PSU's New President, Dr. John Oswald Appoints Student Advisors

The Pennsylvania State University begins its 1970-71 year with a new president, Dr. John Oswald. Dr. Oswald has many qualifications for this position.

After graduation from De Pauw University, he enrolled in the University of California where he received his Doctorate of Philosophy in plant pathology and published more than seventy scientific papers. Immediately after receiving his degree, he entered the U.S. Navy where he served from 1942 to 1946. On his release from active duty, Dr. Oswald returned to teach at the Berkeley campus.

He was promoted to full professor in 1957, and then began concurrent duties as administrative assistant to the Chancellor. In 1958, Dr. Oswald was promoted to the office of the president of the statewide university system, serving as assistant vice-president, vice-president, and vice-president for administration.

His selection as President of the University of Kentucky came in 1963. In his five years there, he moved the University into new areas, strengthened its faculty and supervised the largest development program in the states history. He promoted the system of fifteen two-year college campuses of the university.

Dr. Oswald's success at Kentucky was measured by the Louisville Courier Journal, "The unique contribution of John Oswald. . . was a spirit. . . It was an atmosphere of intellectual daring and enterprise. . . opened new opportunities for vigorous minds."

He holds four honorary degrees and has participated in the work of many national educational groups and in community activities where he has resided.

Dr. Oswald sees exciting changes in Penn State's future. His plans are to promote better understanding between students and the administration. In his opening address to the University Senate, President Oswald announced that he would appoint two faculty members and two students on a rotating basis to serve as special assistants in his office as a means of "continuous, constant representation, presentation, and communication with faculty and students."

The two regular student assistants will be appointed at the beginning of this term and will serve throughout the year. Dr. Oswald said the student assistants would work with him in an advisory role developing alternate plans and procedures for implementing the trustee directive delegating to the University President the responsibility for student affairs, specifically in setting up the University President's procedure for consulting students.

Dr. Oswald will also strive for more communication between the Commonwealth Campuses. Students may remember his visit during the Spring 1970 term break. He spoke with remaining students and was interested in new ideas on the "grass-roots" level. He has plans for long talks with students at all campuses this year, and he will return to Capitol Campus later in the year.

the Capitolist Needs

ONE ARTICULATE
COLUMNIST ON A
REGULAR BASIS

Leave Name and Number at
THE NEWSPAPER OFFICE
IN PLACEMENT BUILDING