Women's Movement

Meets

Tonight

The Harrisburg Women's Movement will hold its monthly meeting this coming Thursday evening, October 19th at St. Paul's Episcopal Church (Lexington and Wiconisco Streets, Harrisburg).

It begins with business at 8 p.m., followed by a panel discussion on "SEXISM IN PICTURE BOOKS AND EARLY READERS" starting at 8:30 p.m.

Speakers Joan Holiday, Barbara Glenn, and Kathey Bard, have been conducting a study of children's literature for several months and will summarize their findings to the groups Thursday evening. Their study has focused on the role of boys and girls and mothers in books and tips on how parents can attempt to counter the sexism in children's readings and experiences in school.

These women have found that there are few books written about girls in exciting situations - but that they are generally portrayed in relation to boys or men. Publishers replied that they felt there was not a very large audience for exciting stories about girls; whereas girls will read about boys for excitement or mystery, boys will not or feel they cannot cross the sexual difference in their reading matter.

In most stories reviewed, the role of the mother was found to be one of passiveness, adoration and servitude to the husband, and of complete lack of imagination. The reality of employed mothers and the great resources involved in child development are completely ignored.

The final part of the presentation will include ideas for mothers of small children to help combat the sexism that is inherent in our present educational system.

A $200 Music System is not an Appliance

(THE SOFTNESS ON THE BUTTER DISH SHOULDN'T INTEREST YOU)

If you are looking around for a music system in the $200 price range you can either go to an audio specialist (like us), or to a large home appliance center or department store. Fearing that at an audio specialty store you won't be able to buy anything for the amount of money you have to spend, you may well go first to talk to the nice man who sold you your refrigerator.

Following him past the air conditioners, all-in-one stereo-theaters, and freezers, you come to the corner devoted to stereo equipment. "Here's a nice one," he says pointing at a few nameless boxes. "Marked down from $400 to $200 just this week. Buy it. You'll like it. If there is any problems, just ship it back to the factory."

We at LBR Audio have an alternative: our $200 SANSUI/BSR/ CREATIVE system. Our experience as specialists in listening to, and carefully evaluating good stereo equipment. Each component in our two hundred dollar system has proved its value and reliability in a series of tests on our service bench: each component is guaranteed by our service department for two years, parts and labor.

The Amplifier is a Sansui

AU101. There are controls for balance, loudness, volume, bass, and treble. There is a On/Off switch for private headphone listening plus a microphone jack. It doesn't have the reproduces shatter goblts but it reproduces music with a clarity that is hard to find in an inexpensive amplifier. The speakers are CREATIVE 22's, and are of bookshelf design. There is a 6 1/2" woofer and 3 1/2" tweeter. The bass is firm and clean, without any jukebox boominess.

The record changer we are recommending is made by BSR McDonald, long known for quality automatic turntables. It can be operated either manually or automatically, there is a convenient cueing control. It comes complete with a Shure M75 diamond cartridge and walnut grained base plus dust cover.

the system is $200 which is $50 less than thyprice at which we would sell the components to you separately. It is a great starter system: it will get you into quality stereo music, at a price which will leave you some money to buy records with. Come talk to us about it. We're specialists, but we don't bite. You may. Thank you.
