

Terry Turnbaugh Joins Student Affairs

Mr. Terry Turnbaugh, one of Capitol's new Residence Living Coordinators.

As a member of the growing staff of the Office of Student Affairs, Terry Turnbaugh brings to campus the image of "big man on campus." At six feet-three inches and 235 pounds, you can see what we mean.

Terry recently assumed the post of Residence Living Coordinator in the residence halls of the campus. He resides in an apartment in Wrisberg Hall.

He is a 1970 graduate of Juniata College with a B.S. in Sociology. Terry recently earned a M. Ed. in counselor education from Penn State. He has also been a substitute teacher at an area high school.

He was designated the "outstanding student-athlete," in his senior year at Tyrone, Pa. High School. He played football as a quarterback for Juniata as an undergraduate, and was recently the head coach of the freshman football team and the junior varsity basketball squad at the college. Terry has had considerable experience working in residence living, having served as head resident in a hall at Juniata.

"I like the atmosphere of this campus," he states. "The atmosphere is a bit different here than other colleges with which I have been related, in that it is cordial and informal," he continues.

"The Student Affairs staff is well qualified and reasonable to work with," he says, "because I have seen it at work. We have a lot to offer students in all phases of campus life."

"I enjoy participating in student programs such as flag football and intramural bowling," Terry muses. He plays quarterback on the football team 'Facstaph' which has had much success to this point, losing only two of nine games to this point. He is consistently the high scorer, along with Dr. John Grimm, Dean of Student Affairs on the bowling squad 'Cardinals.'

"My biggest interest in my current position is in getting students to participate in joint social and service activities, especially between the dorms and Meade Heights. To get more active participation as opposed to only a verbal agreement."

John Wayne

on Welfare?

(CPS) -- Actor John Wayne, an outspoken critic of the national welfare program, may be on a form of welfare himself.

According to Rep. Glenn M. Anderson (D-California), Wayne, with other wealthy farmers, has turned to the federal treasury to supplement his income."

The actor will receive $218,000 in a farm subsidy from the federal government this year. The amount is only about a fourth of what he received last year, due to subsidy cutbacks. Wayne, however, was able to avoid a revenue loss by renting much of his land at exorbitant prices.

At Last,

A Unique Line

(CPS) -- All's fair in love and war - especially if you have your own tank.

A. U.S. Army sergeant stationed in Germany was spurned by a waitress. Undaunted, the soldier left the cafe and commandeered a tank, squeezed it through the narrow streets of Geinhasen to where his love worked, and leveled the tanks gun at the front door.

He ordered his love's fancy to capitulate, but was captured before he could take his love and rumble off through the barbed wire.
