

CAPITOL NEWS IN PICTURES

A few of the zany costumes worn by students at the Halloween parade and dance last Friday

A display of UNICEF cards that were recently being sold by members of Delta Tau Kappa.

Some of the baked goods on sale display during the Sigma Delta Chi sale last week. The sorority reportedly made $44 from the sale.

Grad School Service for Minority Students

PRINCETON, N.J. - A new program designed to help the nation's graduate schools seek out potential students from minority groups is underway this fall.

Called the Minority Graduate Student Locator Service, the program is offered by Educational Testing Service. ETS estimates that about 10,000 to 15,000 students could initially use the new service which is offered free to both students and institutions this year.

According to J. Bradley Williams, ETS director of the project, "One of the problems facing graduate schools seeking to increase enrollment of students from racial and ethnic minorities is that of identifying potential students."

NEW FORM WILL HELP

Now, students will have a chance to voluntarily complete a special 17-item questionnaire as one step towards entering graduate school.

Information about the academic interests and goals of Black, American-Indian, Asian-American, and Spanish or Mexican-American students who wish to pursue graduate level education, will be available to those institutions seeking to bolster minority enrollment.

Admissions officers may then contact students directly and invite the applications of those whose particular interests could be served by their schools' graduate offerings.

EXPERIMENTAL FIRST YEAR

The locator service will be used first by graduate schools in December. According to Williams, some 300 schools are expected to join this year with more offering the program later.

The locator service is open to second-term college juniors, seniors, and college graduates.

Nearly 2,200 counselors at undergraduate schools across the country have received information about the program and can supply questionnaires to interested students, whatever their racial background.

The student response form is also available with information bulletins describing the Graduate Record Examinations (GRE). But ETS said GRE scores are not included in the locator service and that a student need not take the exams in order to participate in the locator service.

TRAVEL FILM SERIES OPENS

HARRISBURG, Pa. Another season of the popular "World Around Us" series of personally-narrated travel films in color opens at 8:00 p.m. Friday, November 3, in the Forum of the Education Building, Walnut Street and Commonwealth Avenue, Harrisburg.

Initial program in the series, which is jointly sponsored by The Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission and the West Shore Public Library, Camp Hill, will be Frank M. Kilcar, production of "Kaleidoscopic Yugoslavia."

Each of the six presentations will begin promptly at 8:00 p.m. on the first Friday of each month, beginning with November 3 and continuing through April 6, 1973.

Season tickets for all six film lectures are available in advance at the Ground Floor Information Desk of the William Penn Memorial Museum here, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Mondays, through Fridays, or by calling the West Shore Public Library, Camp Hill, at 761-3900 or 761-3901.

They are priced at $6.00 for adults, and $4.00 for students. Tickets also will be available at the door of the Forum prior to performance time, priced at $1.25 for adults; $1.00 for students, and 50 cents for children under 12 years.

From Yugoslavia in November, the world-wide scope of the series will transport armchair travelers on a comprehensive tour of Mexico on Friday, December 1, when Dr. Edward Brigham, Jr., presents his new "Portraits of Mexico."

Moving into the new year of 1973, the offering on Friday evening January 5, will be a swing around the fascinating Canadian Maritime Province of Nova Scotia, with photographer-lecturer Bill Kennedy as guide.

Then on February 2 -- Groundhog Day, which is usually pretty nasty from the weather standpoint, hereabouts -- Jim Doney will take the "World Around Us" audience on a personally-conducted tour of America's most unusual State, the tropical wonderland of Hawaii.

On March 2, patrons of the series will journey to the subcontinent of Australia to see many new aspects of this strange, huge land as recorded by the color cameras of Aubert Lavastida, and hear photographer-producer Lavastida describe some of the difficulties encountered during the making of this film.

To close out the 1972-73 season, on Friday, April 6, Roy Coy will lead a photographic expedition along the route of the historic and colorful "Pony Express Trail."

Student Government Fighting

Bellingham, Wash. (CPS)--The Washington state attorney general has advised the administration of Western Washington State College to cut off all spending by the WWSC student government pending the results of a law suit against the school.

The Associated Students filed suit against the school last June. The point of contention is whether or not the AS is an "arm or agency of the state or a separate organization." The suit also asks for clarification of the campus co-operative bookstore and for AS to be awarded control of the $178,000 of the bookstore reserve fund.

Since the AS budget is collected by the state, the WWSC administration considers it to be "state money" and will not release the money to an agency which claims to be a separate entity.

The administration is "very desirous to see that student government is carried on and activities continue," a WWSC spokesman said recently, "but in light of this law suit they find themselves in a peculiar position, in that they cannot fund a corporation separate from the state."

"The cutting off of our funds is a pressure that's been hanging over my head all along," AS chairman Jim Kennedy said, "but I'm not going to let it affect my judgment of what we may get out of this (the lawsuit)."

Although Kennedy expects an out-of-court settlement, he is not willing to drop the case at the expense of the students. Meanwhile, the state attorney office officials and AS attorney John Anderson, who is being retained with a contingency fund of $2000 taken from last year's AS budget, have been working on a list of stipulations to be used as a working agreement.

The legality of Anderson's salary is also in question--that of using state funds to sue the state.

The conflict between AS and the administration began last spring when AS claimed complete control of the co-operative bookstore and all its assets, including the $178,000 reserve fund. The AS board of directors dissolved the bookstore board and established their own. The administration told the bookstore manager to disregard the instructions of the new board and to follow the existing board.

The AS created a negotiating team to come to an agreement with the administration and other matters concerning a revamping of the student government. The team maintained that the administration had nothing to do with the incorporation of the AS. AS, they claimed, was incorporated in the same manner as the Boy Scouts, the YMCA, or any other non-profit organization.

The negotiations came to an impasse in June when the suit was filed.

Open daily to 9 PM

Specializing in Imported and Domestic
Sports Cars

 315 2nd Street
 Highspire, Pa.
 phone 939-78911

ELKS THEATRE
Today until Tuesday

CULPEPPER
CATTLE
COMPANY

Emaus and Union Sts.
Middletown
 Features at 7 & 9:30
 Admission $1.50
