

Dr. Bill Mahar studies the control panel during a WZAP program on the "Evolution of Ragtime" last Thursday.

ZAP's 'RAGTIME' CONDUCTED BY DR. MAHAR

On February 1st, Professor William Mahar of the Humanities program presented a demonstration of the "Evolution of Ragtime" on the campus radio station WZAP.

The show was the first in a proposed series of musical programs as conducted by Mahar.

He traced the beginnings of the Ragtime concept to the era immediately preceding the America Civil War. Louis Moreau Gottschalk is credited, in effect, as being the "father of Ragtime." Mahar played five cuts from an album of Gottschalk's music.

Black spiritual and minstrel music dominated the succeeding periods of Ragtime. Country and dance music were also included. A few of the tunes played were

"Old Dan Tucker" and "Is There Anybody Here Not Love My Jesus?"

Scott Joplin, near the turn into the 20th century, was a prevalent figure in Ragtime music. His "Maple Leaf Rag" is considered a classic. Other musicians were Joe Jordan and Paul Mares, Ragtime (modern-jazz) pianists and composers.

Ragtime evolved into what is currently known as jazz with the lively, foot-loose tunes by James P. Johnson, Ferdinand "Jellyroll" Morton, and the jazz-band sounds of Louis Armstrong and Duke Ellington. Johnson's "You've Got to be Modernistic" and "Jellyroll's" - "King Porter Stone" were offered for the pleasure of the listening audience.

May 9 1972

I wear a mask when I'm with you
I really don't know why
Internally-----is the fantasization
of loving you
But eternally-----is the reality
of wanting you
My mask hides the tears
that my heart sheds
Time seems so infinite
Yet-----it's just moments away
My love is walking out the door
I don't want you to go
But-----there are no ties
that bind you
I'm afraid to ask for a commitment
In fear that we'll want more than we can give
I wear a mask when I'm with you
Because I'm afraid of loving you
My expectations of you have been met
But your wants of me have yet to be fulfilled
I'm scared when you laugh
In fear that I am silly
I'm afraid when you frown
In fear that I disappoint you
I love you so much
And I bear a heavy heart
to tell you so
I wear a mask when I'm with you
In fear that you don't love me

Elyse R. Paul

27 January 73

It seems that we are two opposing poles
Of one existence, free, and yet defined;
And never recognizing as a whole
The Lives we lead, so childishly confined.
But like the truth that can't exist without
The lies we use to justify our means,
Without me here you cannot go about
Your staunch denial of a bond between.
So be the tail to my engraved head,
And complement my feelings with your own.
And know we live between ourselves, instead
Of trying to exist as half alone.
If you deny the oneness of our soul,
I cannot live, a half pretending whole.

C-B

Campaign Promise to Students kept

(CPS) -- Campaign promises are mostly noted for their unreliability, but one made to college students in the Ann Arbor, Michigan area is apparently being kept.

Fred Postill, the new sheriff of Washtenaw County in Michigan has announced he "will place the lowest possible priority on marijuana arrests."

Postill displaced former sheriff Doug Harvey in an election which hinged on the votes cast by students at the University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan University. Harvey was fond of busting students, an act which hardly endeared him to the campus community. The new sheriff is more aware of the desires of his constituency.

Postill has instructed his deputies not to arrest persons with a small quantity of grass. Deputies who ignore this dictum face transfer. Tempering this stance is Postill's policy of the continued arrest of what is called "major traffickers."

Student Voice Is Faint

(CPA) -- A recent survey shows that only 7 percent of the more than 2500 institutions of higher education in America have governing boards with students in voting capacities.

The American Council on Education surveyed over 450 schools in its study on student participation in academic governance.

Only 11 to 17 percent of all colleges have students sitting on governing boards in any capacity, voting or non-voting, the study concluded.

Texas Law

(CPS) -- A bill was filed in the Texas Legislature January 18 that would require criminals in Texas to give their intended victims 24 hours notice.

The bill, an amendment to the Texas Criminal Code, makes it a separate offense to commit a crime of violence without first letting the intended victim know. The time, place and nature of the crime to be committed must also be communicated.

"Obviously the criminal is not going to do it, but this would be another punishment that could be added to the penalty," said State Representative Jim Kaster, who filed the bill.

"People are treating it as a big joke," he said. "Maybe, but I'm going to push it."

Classified Ads

MEN!!! Do you like to Sing or Dance or both? Then the West Shore Community Players want you! Practice is held most Sundays at the Y.W.C.A., 4th & Walnut from 2-4 PM and Tuesdays at the Mechanicsburg American Legion from 8-11 PM. For more information call Vi Thompson at 761-0326 or 761-5770. It's fun!!!

RIDE NEEDED: From the West Shore (Vicinity of Highland Park, Cedar Cliff or New Cumberland) on Thursday and Friday mornings between 8:30 and 9:30 a.m. Also from the campus back to the West Shore daily between 4-6 p.m. Will pay 50 cents per ride. Contact A. Klain, W-250, phone 787-7953.

WANTED: Term papers and reports which need typing. If you are pressed for time and need typing done fast, I can help. One dollar a page. Contact Ellen Cohen at 944-1976.

phoebes phoods

there are foods that should be eliminated from the diet. this is important because the lemon merangue pie that you accept for dessert may add that fatal bit of cholesterol to your bloodstream. you will never be able to know your body's needs until you change to a well balanced diet! (that's why speed freaks and junkies don't eat: they can't feel their bodies).

your body needs a very few carbohydrates to function. that's why carbohydrates in their natural form should be used. nature provides these carbohydrates with vitamins (fruit, whole grains, potatoes), minerals and protein (grains, nuts, seeds).

impossible? most certainly not! you could begin by cutting out almost all of the following: sodas, candy, french fries, all sugar, and white flour. the alternatives to these foods are juice, raw nuts, dried fruits (easy on them) honey, and whole grained bread.

look at the ethnic foods that appear in this column. they are all very inexpensive to prepare and they are delicious to eat. why eat junk when food is such a turn-on?

homemade yogurt

- 1) fill a wide mouthed jar ¼ or ½ full of instant milk.
- 2) add some water & stir out lumps.
- 3) add more water leaving enough room to stir in a couple tablespoons of pure, plain yogurt.
- 4) cover with a towel and set overnight in a warm place (and presto - chango!)
- 5) to eat, add preserves, nuts, seeds, fruits, honey, wheat germ, or blackstrap molasses.

ed'n esther's (ed is the fortunate husband of the fine esther) hungarian tomato salad

- ¼c. vinegar
- ¼c. olive oil
- 2 tblsp. honey
- ¼ tsp. sea salt (reg salt will do)
- 1/8 tsp. pepper

- 1) combine ingredients above in a small screw top jar, cover, and chill.
- 2) now rinse and dip in boiling water 5 medium size tomatoes. scald and peel.

- 3) clean the tomatoes
- 4) chill - cut up and put in salad bowl with ½c. chopped onions & 2 tblsp. parsley.
- 5) now cover tomatoes with dressing made above. serves 4 to 5.

brocoli or cauliflower cheese soup

- 1) melt grated sharp cheese over low heat (a double boiler would be good).
- 2) slowly add milk, being careful not to let it boil.
- 3) while the cheese is melting, pan fry the vegetable you're using in olive oil or butter.
- 4) add the cheese and milk mixture to the vegetables.
yummmmmmmmmmy!!!

louise's soup suggestion

(louise is the secretary for humanities dept.)

- 1) take a soup bone and cook in water.
(if it doesn't have any fat or if you don't use meat, add oil).
- 2) add all kinds of vegetables (carrots, celery, cabbage, onions, potatoes, peas, etc).
- 3) cook soup on low heat for several hours. parsley, basil, and sage are good spices to add.

CLIP THIS COUPON

Marabella's

EVERY NIGHT ANY NIGHT

Spag. & Meatballs

Salad Garlic Bread Coke

Reg. $2.10

With this coupon 25¢ off

2285 W. Hbg. Pike

Highspire Plaza

Across from McDonalds

Expires Feb. 20th, 1973