

CONTROVERSIAL DRAMA STARS JAGGER-FOX

Mick Jagger, the famed leader of the Rolling Stones rock group, joins accomplished actor James Fox to headline the cast of Warner Bros.' controversial drama, "Performance," playing April 11 at 8:00 in the auditorium.

Set in contemporary London and filmed entirely on location in and around that city, the film is not only a story of the underworld, but also an incisive probe into the closely-related emotions of love and hate and their effects on human relations.

Fox portrays a professional criminal, a member of a highly-organized protection racket, who falls afoul of his colleagues by committing murder.

Jagger portrays a one-time entertainer who has dropped out to live in almost complete seclusion while experimenting with ultra-modern musical forms. His only companions are two hippie girls, played by Anita Pallenberg, and Michele Breton, who share his decadent life.

When Fox invades Jagger's alien world to escape his pursuers, the confrontation erupts into a bizarre experience that leaves none of the principals unchanged.

Donald Cammell and Nicolas Roeg, who co-directed the film, each made his debut in major motion picture productions with "Performance."

Admission is 80 cents or 40 cents with an activities card.

27 FEBRUARY 1973

( A Lesson in Two Parts )

I.
What force out from Urand's cast our blood
Upon a canvas framed and blank as night?
The seven red, coagulated muds
Converged in dramas, hopeful that they might
Remain thus mixed. Could any man distill
One essence out, one ocean from the Earth?
Within the frame can our constructed will
Keep death from voiding our collective birth?
Yet cherished works enjoy a common fate;
Great canvases within museums lie,
And dramas in anthologies must wait—
Growth stunted by appreciating eyes.
The painting that our seven souls create
Does not perceive itself glass-boxed in fate.

II.
Then one by one they sailed out t'ward the frame
That once had bound together worlds as one,
And through the Pillars, beckoned by the frame
Of lands undreamed, of stars and moons unhung,
They scattered life across a novel sea.
Cohesion lost, somewhere in minutes passed,
The talent to envision Unity,
The strength to hold vague teams securely massed.
Must I prepare a maiden voyage of life?
A mind, perhaps, has now outgrown a stage
That once did lift a leper out of strife,
Now obsolete by e'er-advancing age.
Security binds not, but laughs aloud
At those who go to seed in stagnant crowds.

Area Officials Attend "Reading" Conference Here

Officials from two area townships were among those attending a week-long seminar on Plan Reading and Code Interpretation held recently at Capitol Campus. The seminar was sponsored as a service of the Continuing Education Division of the University.

James W. Shields, code Enforcement Officer, Lower Swatara Township; Donald H. Homer, Building Inspector, Swatara Township; and Steven R. Royer, Assistant Building Inspector, Swatara Township, were among those in attendance.

Main objective of the seminar was to teach code enforcement officers to read and interpret architect's plans and specifications and to help in the interpretation of building codes. Participants attended lectures, workshops, and solved special sample problems similar to those which code enforcing officers face in day-to-day operations.

Capitol Plays Nicely Presented

Capitol Campus presented its first theatrical production of the year on March 8.

Three major one-act plays of the modern theatre were performed by students enrolled in the literature course "A Master of Literature." The plays presented were: "The Sandbox," by Edward Albee; "The Room," by Harold Pinter and "Act Without Words" by Samuel Beckett. Directly reflecting the emphasis of the course, the three plays compose a balanced sample of the "absurdist" or modern theatre.

"The Sandbox" featured Paula Dunbar as "Mommy", Richard Pursell as "Daddy", and Michelle Baker as "Grandma." Ann-Marie Fetterman, Bob MacGinnes and Joe Quattrocchi performed the major roles in "The Room."

Tim Jacobs presented the solo performance in "Act Without Words," a mime for one player.

Jere S. Berger, Assistant Professor of Humanities and Theatre, directed the plays. Production manager was Mark Pesce. Rhonda Simms and Brad Langdon were stage managers.
