

Major Trautman Honored

Major Konrad W. Trautman, former Vietnam prisoner of war and current Capitol Campus junior, received the Purple Heart, The Silver Star, the Distinguished Flying Cross and four other awards during afternoon ceremonies in the Gallery Lounge on April 3.

The medals were presented by Colonel Alan Grill, professor of aerospace studies at University Park and Captain Thomas Kennington read the following citation prior to the awarding of the Silver Star:

"Captain Konrad W. Trautman distinguished himself by gallantry in connection with military operations against an opposing force over North Vietnam on October 5, 1967. On that date, Captain Trautman was the leader of a flight of four F105 Thunderchiefs in an air attack against an intensely defended causeway."

"Although his aircraft was struck repeatedly by accurate and tracking flak, Captain Trautman courageously pressed the attack and devastated the target with his ordnance. By his gallantry to duty, Captain Trautman has reflected great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force."

It was during this action Trautman was shot down and held prisoner until his release on March 18, 1973, following the end of official United States involvement in the war.

In brief remarks after the ceremony, Major Trautman said his imprisonment had given him a new perspective on the value of education and he is "honored and grateful to be a member of Capitol Campus."

Baseball Team Sets Record

In two hard-fought season openers, the Capitol Campus baseball team has defeated the Air Force National Guard, setting a school record of two wins in one season.

The first game, played April 6 under rainy skies at Indiantown Gap, was called after five innings which resulted in a 4-3 Capitol victory. Pitcher Den Hlavaty struck out ten batters and Barry Deacon provided the hit which brought Nick Cherrish home for the winning point.

A game with Messiah College the following Wednesday was postponed due to poor conditions at the Oak Hills field in Middletown. Oak Hills will be Capitol's home turf as the on-campus field lacks the depth needed for such mighty hitters as Barry Baur, Chuck Dettrey and Huck Hession.

An April 15 rematch with the Air Force National Guard proved the first game had not been a fluke. With Joe Kalista driving in three runs, some excellent base running and poor fielding by the Guard, Capitol won a resounding 8-3 victory.

Gee, BJ, I'm just doing my best. JB

PERSONAL: To the Mad Bomber: We are concerned for the safety and welfare of the campus residents and therefore, strongly oppose the use of fireworks on campus.

Taking for granted that certain fireworks are illegal in Pennsylvania and ignoring the law is your choice. However, the real possibility of permanent injuries to yourself and others which may result from fireworks' explosions is our greatest concern.

Additionally, the explosions during quiet hours disturbs many residents, other than ourselves, and this further offsets the momentary thrill or pleasure you seek at others expense.

Attention Graduating Seniors

It is important that you check with your advisor to see that you have the necessary 18 units of credit to graduate, as well as any required or core courses completed. Check now and save yourself a hassle at commencement time. It would be a good idea also to check with the records office to make sure that they have the correct list of courses you have completed. A few people have run into hassles this year along these lines, so be safe and check out how you stand. Do it today!
