CONGRATULATIONS! BORN TO:

SWHLLIGAN, Mr. and Mrs. John (Kathi Maier), 827B Nelson Drive, Middletown, Pa., a girl, Monday, November 18, 1974, at Milton S. Hershey Medical Center.

The Pythagorean theory that the earth is a sphere stemmed not from any scientific studies, but from the aesthetic reason that Pythagoras thought that the sphere was the most perfect shape.

D.T.K. TO FEATURE SPEAKER ON INFLATION

D.T.K., International Social Science Honor Society, is sponsoring the last of a series of luncheon-discussions to be held Monday, December 2, from 12:15 to 1:15, in the Gallery Lounge. The topic of discussion, to be headed by Dr. Daniel Poor, is "The Social Implications of Inflation". All faculty, staff and student body are invited to attend and participate in the discussion.

Homosexuals liberated

Portland, Ore. (I.P.) - Portland State University has become Oregon's first public institution to officially ban discrimination against homosexuals. Acting President E. Dean Anderson issued a statement reminding faculty and staff of the policy change.

The statement: "University policy is intended to promote non-discrimination in employment and other University activities. This policy covers non-discrimination with respect to race, age, creed, national origin, sex and sexual orientation".

Robert Low, vice-president for administration and the University's affirmative action officer, said the change was made by adding the words "sexual orientation" to the University's existing policy statement on non-discrimination.

Shortcomings of the system pointed out by the UCEP report "include a burden on faculty who compose evaluations, some delay in submission of some evaluations, and some discomfort for students who prefer a highly structured situation".
