XGI REPORTER

Are you going to be at the GPP Casino night? The XGI's will be there and will be running 3 tables. You can try your luck at the crap table or at 5 card stud. Casino Night will be on Tuesday, February 25 at 8 PM in the student center and will provide funds for the spring concert.

On January 31st, a two car caravan arrived in Scranton for a frolicking ski-weekend on the slopes. The night started with a wine drinking contest, with Tom Wick being winner - No one else drank! Tom McMillen almost got to drink some in his sleep! Rich Szezurowski rounded up the girls from Delaware U. while Bill Lupton showed his beginning skills on the slopes.

Elections of officers is Feb 27, so let's get to that meeting and vote!

A few reminders - The Coatesville VA Hospital trip is for 7:30 p.m., Feb 28. We hope to see you there to visit those guys! Also, the sign up boards are in the lounge for baseball games, UP softball game, and the brewery tour. There are some date conflicts, so get in there and indicate your preference! The brewery tour is at 8 p.m. on April 25. With the group that's going so far, Schaefer's had better have plenty of extra kegs ready to tap!!

Letters To The Editor

What Is A "Decent" Guy Or Chick?

Chaste, pure in heart, acceptable, reasonable, and tolerable are the synonyms given by Roget's thesarus for the word "decent". In the last issue of C.C. Reader (February 14, 1975) a letter in this column used the word "decent" as an adjective to describe guys and chicks. If Ms. Praxiteles and Mr. Khan were using this word as a synonym for chaste, and pure in heart, we agree whole heartedly that there are very few people (male or female) who are chaste and pure in heart by the time they reach their junior and senior years in college.

If by using the word "decent" Ms. Praxiteles and Mr. Khan meant acceptable, reasonable, or tolerable, at least Mr. Khan was right when he said there are only a few decent chicks. On the other hand, we dispute Ms. Praxiteles statement that there probably are not enough decent guys to go around for all the decent chicks. Our observation has been that the extremely charming and attractive females on this campus are either engaged or going steady with a guy back home, and really don't care whether the guys here are decent or indecent. Then there are the "decent" chicks, who consider a guy with shoulder length hair, full beard, faded jeans, flannel shirt, and a cake of hash in his pocket decent; while others want a decent guy with white walls, clean shaven face, who doesn't smoke or never ever gets horny.

Surely, each of the decent girls at Capitol Campus has an idea of what her perfect man should be like, and at a campus where the ratio is usually over five guys to one girl, there is probably at least one reasonable facsimile of that perfect man for each of the decent chicks.

The Decent Guys.

dear dave

Dear Dave Nicholas,

My heart bleeds for you! I don't think that I'd take your job as chairman of the Social Committee even if they wanted to pay me. After hearing you talk at the past S.G.A. meeting, I got the general impression that you have been beating your head against the cold cinder-block walls of Capitol Campus. The problem of getting student support is a serious one, and you haven't been too successful. Good entertainment costs mucho pesos, and working with a fixed amount of money is hard to do. But here are two other reasons for the present non-support of social events on the part of our student body. You are probably well aware of these items, but let me tell you again.

First, the majority of the people living in the dorms are engineering majors (at least we think we are engineers). Our professors have been dumping work on us faster than a blizzard dumps snow on the Canadian frontier. Most of this material is new to us, and it requires a good bit of time at home to keep us. I personally try to get over to the student center for your social events, but don't count on me for perfect attendance. Still there are others floating around here who have nothing better to do than watch television. "The Three Stooges" and "Star Trek" are academically accepted and can be used as pre-requisites to many courses here at Capitol, but too much T.V. tends to warp the mind. Considering just these two things, I'll grant you that resident participation is not too good.

Secondly, we have a serious problem in the dorms which requires immediate attention from President Fort. Someone forgot to add the female of the species (in equal numbers at least) to this Garden of Eden. No wonder every sensible person clears out of here on Friday afternoons. It's enough to drive you up the wall! Who wants to go to the Student Center to dance and talk with their buddies from the room next door? Golly gee whizz! We want girls to talk to and to dance with and to make advances to and etc. etc. etc. It requires a miracle but it is not impossible.

Don't feel bad though, it isn't your fault that boys are made that way. I must compliment you on some of the groups that were her. Straw Boss was great and Jaime Brockett was fantastic. Maybe if the present one girl to seven guys ratio was altered, we would have more incentive to turn out to planned social events. Thanks for your time.

DRAMA CLUB

Thursday evening, I witnessed the delightful production of the Humanities 410 Drama Club. I would just like to say, that I am glad theater is finally reaching notoriety at Capitol among students but where is the faculty? I might say to the faculty, administrators and the rest of the unaware student body, these plays are not done just for the self satisfaction of the actors, but to add to the culture and entertainment at Capitol. I was really shocked not to see more students and at least a slight representation of the faculty at this performance.

I overheard that one professor stated that he did not wish to see an amateur production, [a humanities professor, no less]. Granted these people are not professionals; if they were they certainly would not be at Capitol. But that is beside the point, for in reality all professionals were once amateurs; the only difference here is those professionals had support as amateurs; something which does not exist at Capitol.
