

The Reader Asks Why Doesn't Penn State Have A Law School?

Feature by Mark Feldman

What Are Your Plans After Graduation - Job Prospects Or School?

Bob Hannn, 12th PSSC

Hope to go to Smith College, in Massachusettes (if accepted), in Early Childhood Education, or Peace Corps.

Jobie Coslett, 12th Bus Admin.

Hotel management - Buch Hill Inn & Golf Club, Poconos.

Bill Comp, 12th Business

Graduate school at Rider or Drexel, possibly a job.

Paul Will, 13th Business

Expect to work for an Accounting firm.

by R. Bennett

This question might never be asked again. A plan is under way to organize a fully accredited law school in the Harrisburg area. The plan for the school was initiated by Capitol Campus graduate students and area lawyers.

Initially, an evening program would be available. If a sufficient number of qualified students show interest, the school could begin full operations as early as 1978-79. At least 100 inquiries have been made already.

According to Prof. John Jones of Capitol Campus, one of the organizers of the school, the idea of a law school in the Harrisburg area is not new. It was presented three years ago, but it was "nixed" by personnel from Dickenson's law school who didn't want the competition. Prof. Jones believes that the new school could compete against Dickenson, because it could appeal to the graduate who works during the day and can only go to the school at night. Dickenson has no night school.

Two of the organizers, who asked that their names be withheld, expressed hopes that students could work hand in hand with the community, and provide legal aid services.

The school has the support of many professional lawyers, judges and legislators. It now needs the support of interested students. Faculty members are also needed to work on committees which will work to gain governmental and corporate financial support. Inquiries should be addressed to Law School, P.O. Box no. 550, Federal Square Station, Harrisburg, Pa.

17108. Students are asked to include: undergraduate school and grade point average, expected date of graduation, graduate work if any, LSAT test scores if any and present position and experience.

XGI REPORTER

There are many sign-up sheets in the frat lounge and surely some may apply to you. If you are interested in any of the following, get in there and sign up!

1. To help work in the concession stand at the rock concert, May 17. 2 hour shifts.
2. This Saturday, April 19, the frat will have a fence repair party at the Don Braun farm as a service to relay the frat's thanks for the use of the premises for the annual spring picnic. Free beer!
3. Shaeffer brewery tour, April 25, 8 P.M. Free beer! Keggar time again! An XGI promoted keggar will be held at the Middletown Hunters and Anglers Clubs, Saturday night, the 26th of April. Check signs for further information. Yearbook sales end May 1st, so get yours bought now from Randy Hess to help the frat.

Please get your reply to the picnic questionnaire to the frat office ASAP.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank those who voted for me for engineering senator in the recent SGA elections. Also, as a result of a vote counting hassle, a special closed run-off election for president of SGA will be held on April 21st. So, once again, please go and vote for your choice so that we can break this stalemate.

Remember what Al says, "A clean XGI Lounge is a Happy XGI Lounge" !!! Rumor has it that a police call duty roster is in the making for 0800 hours and 1600 hours, daily! Failure to be present may result in an article 15 and a limitation of one frat lounge visit per week for the offender!

XGI Reporter
Jorn Jensen

VETERANS

You Have A Valuable Commodity:

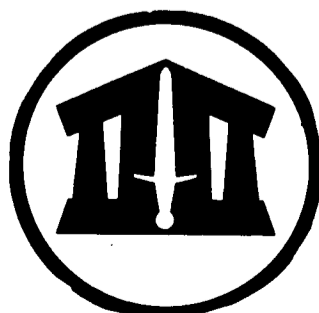

EXPERIENCE

We have a program that allows you to benefit from your experience AND be paid $100.00 per month at the same time WITHOUT INTERFERING

WITH YOUR ACADEMIC PURSUITS. ALSO, your years of experience mean a higher starting salary once you complete our program, and to top it off, you earn a commission in the U.S. Army. (Starting salary over $10,000, assuming two years service)

ARMY ROTC Veterans Program

Come Back!
Your Future Is Important To Us.

Call (717) 243-5121,
ext 221/222 (collect)
For Further Information