Kunkle Fund Scholarships Awarded

Scholarships from the Bayard D. and Ethel M. Kunkle Fund were recently awarded to ten undergraduate students for the 1975-76 academic year.

According to Dr. Robert McDermott, provost, the Kunkle awards made this year by Capitol totaled $4,950. Individual awards ranged up to $925.

The purpose of the Kunkle scholarship fund is to aid and recognize outstanding undergraduate students at Penn State's Commonwealth Campuses who have a need for funds to meet necessary college expenses.

Recipients of the Kunkle scholarships for the coming year are: Robert Bennett of Midday, Pa., Debra Duttry of Millersburg, Pa., Patrick Hospodavis of Masontown, Pa., James C. Kicinski of Pittsburgh, James Leighton of Harrisburg, Valerie Miles of Philadelphia, Carl Puschak of Glenside, Pa., Charles Roy of York, Pa., Douglas Ryman of Hershey, and Thomas E. Tucker of Freeland, Pa.

Knestricks Gets P.P.A. Office

Dr. James L. Knestrick, assistant professor of social science and psychology, is President-elect of the Division of Community Psychology of the Pennsylvania Psychological Association.

A native of Washington, Pa., Knestrick is also coordinator of the master's degree program in community psychology. Knestrick received a Ph.D. in clinical psychology from Penn State. He has served as director of psychological training at Harrisburg State Hospital, and has been consulting clinical psychologist at Central School District in York, Pa. since 1970.

Appointments

Dr. Daniel M. Poore has been appointed program head of Urban and Regional Planning.

A faculty member at Capitol since 1970, Poore will also continue as head of the graduate program in Public Administration, a position he has held since 1972.

A graduate of Lafayette College with a bachelor of science degree, Poore holds a master of science in industrial engineering from Lehigh University. He earned his doctorate in business administration from the University of Pittsburgh.

Dr. George H. Grenier has been appointed division head of the engineering and technology programs.

Since 1969, Grenier has been dean of the college of engineering at the Detroit Institute of Technology. He earned a bachelor's degree from the Cooper Union Institute in New York, a master's degree from New York University and a Ph.D. from Montana State University.

Dr. Kenneth Masters has been appointed program head of social sciences.

A former director of the Bureau of Statistics in the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs, Masters joined the faculty at Capitol in 1967. He holds a bachelor's degree in science with a master's and doctorate degree in economics from the University of Pennsylvania.

Promotions

Dr. William A. Decker has been promoted to assistant professor of psychosocial science and psychology.

A resident of Harrisburg, Decker earned his doctorate in psychology from the University of Connecticut. He received a bachelor's degree from Graceland College in Iowa and has done graduate work at San Diego State and Wayne State in Detroit. He has taught at Capitol since 1974.

Dr. Lemuel Molovinsky has been named assistant professor of American studies and history.

Molovinsky earned his doctorate in history from Temple University where he received bachelor and master degrees. A resident of Philadelphia, he has served on the Capitol faculty since 1972.

Dr. Vedula N. Murty, head of the mathematical sciences program, was promoted to full professor. Holding a doctorate from Purdue University in mathematics/statistics, Murty has taught at Capitol since 1970.

Five faculty members were promoted to associate professor: Dr. Roy Allison, education; Dr. Duane R. Smith, education; William K. Aungst, engineering; Clifford A. Mason, engineering; and Dr. Terence Brown, business logistics.

Promoted to assistant professor were: Phillip Buchanan, accounting; David Meeting, accounting and finance; and Dr. Phillip Taylor, psycho-social and social science.

Ms. Judith Cherry, a resident of Harrisburg and on the staff of Capitol since 1971, was promoted to senior assistant librarian.

Mary E. Gundel has been promoted to director of admissions and registrar.

Gundel came to Capitol in 1969 as assistant academic services officer. In 1973 she was appointed undergraduate admissions director.

A graduate of Harrisburg's William Penn High School, Gundel received her B.S. degree in health and physical education and a master's degree in guidance and counseling from Penn State University at University Park.

Sabbaticals

Dr. Robert C. Graham, associate professor of humanities and American studies, has been granted a sabbatical leave for the fall and winter terms to complete two research projects.

A Penn State faculty member since 1965 and at Capitol since 1969, Graham will conduct research on Southern women in 19th and 20th century American literature and on Fanny Kemble's work as author, actress, abolitionist and early feminist.

A former dean of the faculty and current professor of international relations, Dr. Richard Heindel, has received a sabbatical leave for the fall and winter terms to write a book.

Heindel, a Harrisburg resident and professor at Capitol since 1967, is writing on "The American Impact Abroad."

He earned a bachelor degree at Harvard and a master's and doctorate degree from the University of Pennsylvania. Prior to joining the faculty at Capitol, Heindel was President of Pratt Institute in Brooklyn and President of Wagner College in Staten Island. During a 37-year-career in international relations, Heindel has served at numerous government and educational positions including the staff of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and director of the American Embassy Library in London.

New Faculty

Mr. Troy Thomas has joined the faculty as art historian in the humanities department.

A resident of Harrisburg, Thomas holds master degrees in art history and fine arts from Indiana University and the University of Colorado. He earned his bachelor's degree in fine arts from the Philadelphia Museum College of Art. He is finishing his doctorate from the University of California at Berkeley.

In addition to university teaching assignments, Thomas has worked at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C.

According to Dr. Nancy Tischler, program head of the humanities department, Thomas will teach both graduate and undergraduate courses. His speciality is Italian renaissance art.

The graduate program in public administration has hired Mr. Robert Munzenrider as coordinator of the field-study program.

According to Dr. Daniel Poore, chairman of the public administration program, Munzenrider's position is possible through a grant of $49,346 from the U.S. Office of Health, Education and Welfare to improve graduate public service programs.

Munzenrider holds bachelor and master degrees from the University of Georgia and is finishing a doctorate at the same University.

A Phi Beta Kappa scholar, Munzenrider has taught at the Universities of Florida and Georgia.
