Capitol Campus citizens have been hearing strange rumblings within the walls of dear old PSU recently. Here as well as everywhere else in the United States, some of the students have come down with "campaignitis." Through the effort of several students, the Young Democrats Club is back in operation, and is supporting Jimmy Carter for president.

Student Coordinator Deb Koller Hoffman tells about the organization: "Across the nation we have seen a strong relaxation of citizen, and particularly student, participation in politics and government. There are many reasons for this apathy--the end of the Vietnam War left students without the cause that had provided them with reason for protest, the Watergate Era created a basic distrust with the preoccupation now toward gainful employment and what lies beyond graduation."

Hoffman goes on to say, "Election '76 is giving us another chance to ignite that spark of citizen participation and concern that our sisters and brothers left for us to carry on. That's why we're organizing the "Students for Carter Committee." We care about the future of the United States and we care about the people who live here.

The '76 election should prove to be most important in the history of this country. As we embark on the beginning of our third century, we'd like to see a man in the White House who represents not the bureaucrats and interests of Washington, but of the whole country.

Jimmy Carter is that man. Jimmy has pure and fresh ideas--ideas that will help sustain the Democracy and American Spirit that have made the United States what it is today and will make it even better tomorrow.

I urge everyone to get involved and support the candidate of his or her choice. We hope your choice will be Jimmy Carter, former governor of Georgia.

Carter has already proven that he can win. He has won primaries in: New Hampshire, Florida, North Carolina, Vermont, Illinois and Wisconsin.

On April 27, we believe he is going to win in Pennsylvania. We at "Students for Carter," are asking for your help. Vote for Carter on April 27.

If you're not registered yet, register and make sure you can vote in the general election in November. Come out now and help. Go with a winner! When Carter wins, we will win, too!

Campus Prof.
Authors Book
On Management

William G. Hills, associate professor of management here is co-author of a book, "Administration and Management: A Selected Bibliography," published by the University of Oklahoma Press.

The book is intended to provide guidance for public administrators and others who wish to update or supplement their knowledge in specific areas of management. The selections stress the interdependence of business and the political, social and cultural environments.

The bibliography consists of six parts dealing with major phases of administration and management, both in the United States and abroad. Two appendices provide selections of journals, handbooks and general reference works.

The other co-authors of the book are Andre W. Van Rest, assistant professor of business at Cameron University in Oklahoma, Richard C. Kearney and Stephen T. Smith, graduate students at Oklahoma University in political science and public administration, respectively.

President Oswald To Make Address

President John Oswald plans to address the faculty in the University Auditorium at University Park on Tuesday, May 11 from 4 to 5 p.m.

At the same time by simultaneous telephone connections, he wants to reach faculty at all 21 University locations.

All faculty, staff and students will be able to hear Dr. Oswald's address in Room 216.

Ask Otto

Otto Bares

His Teeth

Hello college students, Otto has returned. Ever since I started writing for The C.C. Reader, I've overheard nothing but lots of mean talk about the job I've been doing.

People constantly ask me what I'm doing here, and when I tell them I am a serious problem solver in the style of "Dear Abby," they fall out laughing. Laugh, laugh, laugh. That's all they do. Why, some just giggle, but a few even pee in their pants. They seem to think that Otto is a joke. They think only degenerates and teenagers write to me. And, to top it all off The C.C. Reader staff has kicked me in the butt so many times over this that I think this is a feather up their aspidistra!

Well, ha-ha and a swift kick to them, too. They don't understand that you have to be sympathetic enough, like me, to even attempt to answer the letters I receive. (And some of them are pretty bad!) Shit (excuse my language, but I'm mad), most of the people around here can't read anyway.

Oh, by the way, some have said that Otto never reads newspapers. They've even gone so far as to say that I wouldn't recognize a good news story if someone placed it in front of me. Ha! That shows how much you know about Otto.

Of course I read newspapers. And here is a sampling of the kind of story your Otto reads.

"Mrs. Horace Peace received slight injuries when her husband shot her with a shotgun. At first, Mrs. Peace would not cooperate with investigating deputies, and she also refused to go to the hospital for treatment. Later, Mrs. Peace went to the authorities and explained that her husband was hunting and 'thought I was a rabbit so he shot me.'" (Henderson (N.C.) Dispatch)

The central heating plant will be shut down from June 20th to June 28th for annual maintenance. There will be no domestic hot water available in the Main Building, dormitories, dining hall or student center during the shutdown.

New rules for drop-adds

A new rule on the dropping and adding of courses by undergraduate students at the University will be implemented effective with the spring term, 1976.

Under the rule, which was changed at the Nov. 11, 1975, meeting of the University Faculty Senate, a student may add a course during the first ten calendar days of the term and may drop a course during the first 21 calendar days of the term in accordance with procedures of the student's college or the Division of Undergraduate Studies.

Beginning with the 22nd day and ending on the last day of the eighth week, a student may, in accordance with procedures of the student's college or the Division of Undergraduate Studies, drop a course, but a WP (Passing) or WF (Failing) or WN (No Grade) symbol will be entered on his academic record and transcript.

The rule stipulates that no student may drop a course after the last day of the eighth week of the term for any reason.
