

Your Body Is You...Learn To Control It

Your body is you...learn to control it.

That's the theme of the WOMEN'S HEALTH WORKSHOP being held Tuesday, May 25th in the auditorium of the William Penn Museum.

During the evening, free pap smears and health check-ups will be offered to women, and literature directed to women's health problems will be available.

The workshop is being sponsored by the Harrisburg Women's Rights Movement in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Health, in an effort to make women more aware of the importance of having healthy bodies that work for them and not against them.

The evening kicks off at 7:00 p.m. with JoAnne Fischer Wolf explaining the purpose and goals of the workshop. JoAnne is well-known in the women's health movement.

Last year she attended the International Women's Year Conference in Mexico City as a representative of the World Federation of Public Health Organizations, and she returned full of new ideas and information she's anxious to share.

Following JoAnne's address, the film, "Taking Our Bodies Back" will be shown.

This film deals with medical problems encountered by women and directs itself to women's medical rights and responsibilities.

A healthier, happier body will benefit not only your family and friends but will family and friends but also your outlook on life...join in and be a part of the WOMEN'S HEALTH WORKSHOP.

XGI Reporter

Although the XGIs had the fastest tub in the bathtub race, a last minute change in strategy may have been the cause of our coming in second place in this year's race.

Congratulations to PSPE on their excellent time, they had some good jocks pushing for them.

The quarter keg that the XGIs won was enough for everybody to get feeling good for the communal dinner that same day.

Channels 21 and 27 had good coverage of the race on their 11:00 p.m. news.

XGIs are progressing one step per year. Last year we had third place, this year we had second place and next year we'll have first place!

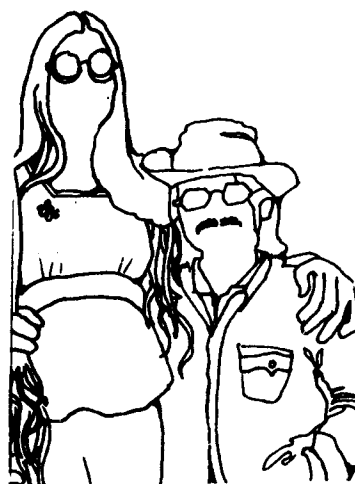

But then one can't be best at everything, so the XGIs are pouring it on in softball.

As of this writing, the XGIs just beat the Zeros by a score of 10 to 7 and that now leaves the XGIs undefeated with a 7 and 0 record.

Also, recently, XGIs team one took three out of four games from the Grand Wazoo in bowling.

Next meeting at the Tiltin Hilton will be Tuesday, May 18 at 9:00 p.m. Try to be there, it will be one of the last few meetings.

Spring Cleaning In Our Library Now

It is spring cleaning time, and time to donate books to the Middletown Friends of the Library second annual book sale.

Books may be left at the Library, 7 South Union Street, Middletown, or at several other locations in the area.

The Book Sale will be held Saturday, May 22, during the Mini-Mall sponsored by downtown merchants.

Proceeds from the sale will benefit the Library Building Fund.

Other convenient drop-off places have been established as follows:

Wesley United Methodist Church (Ann and Catherine Streets); St. Peter's Lutheran Church (Spring and Union Streets); First Presbyterian Church (Union and Water Streets).

In Shope Gardens, call Mrs. Linda Bennett, 223 Delmont; in Pineford, call Mrs. Jan Smith, 944-9729.

If you have books to donate anywhere in the area and would like someone to pick them up, call Book Sale Co-Chairman Mrs. Carol Olsen, 944-1965.

All categories of books will be accepted. At the sale, there will be separate sections for fiction, various divisions of nonfiction, children's books, reference and text books, National Geographics and other magazines, records, and for this year only, a special Bicentennial Section.

This is the time to sort through your books and donate the ones you no longer want to the library book sale. Then on May 22nd, come to the sale and find some new ones to read.
