By Keith Millison

Vince Johnson wanted me to remind everyone that the fraternity is having another keggar this Saturday, February 26th. The keggar will be held at the Hunters and Anglers Club in Middletown, and the music will be provided by the group Uncle Remus. We expect to have another great turnout like the one at the last keggar, where over 300 people attended.

Congratulations are in order for the fraternity's volleyball team, captained by Pittsburg's own Joe Horochak. The reason why you haven't heard of Joe before is because nobody else has either. All kidding aside Joe has done an outstanding job molding the volleyball team into a winner. The current record of the team is now 2 wins and no losses, and we play 2 games this week. The following people are great assets to the volleyball team: Keith Millison, Darrell Bookheimer, Robin Sherman

Bus 361 Draws Aces

On Tuesday, February 15, the students of Bus 361, "Operations Management," were addressed by Tom Fleming, General Manager of the Fruehauf plant located behind the campus. Mr. Fleming described the production process at the plant and also covered a wide range of other business topics. He focused his presentation on a number of questions which the and of course our captain Joe Horochak. Also under the heading of sports, the fraternity bowling teams are fighting for playoffs positions these last few weeks. Good luck to the two fraternity bowling teams who have a shot at a playoff spot, especially XGI #3 bowling team, who will need emergency first aid after their encounter with fellow fraternity brothers on XGI #1 bowling team. Even though the fraternity's basketball team is having a losing season there are two outstanding players who deserve some recognition. They are Joe Stavoy, with 41 points and 21 rebounds, and John Smelik, with 32 points and 38 rebounds.

If anyone in the fraternity is interested in ordering fraternity mugs, come in anytime into the fraternity lounge and sign your name to the roster. For anyone interested in going on the Coatesville Trip this Friday, February 25th at 7:30 P.M., the school van will leave the roundtable at 6:00 P.M.

students had previously supplied him. Ralph C. Aymin, Instructor of Management, presented Mr. Fleming with a framed certificate of appreciation signed by Provost McDermott. Arrangements for Mr. Fleming's presentation were coordinated through ACES, Americans for a Competitive Enterprise System.

But, as usual, life goes on. In his letter this week responding to a Reader editorial, Mr. Musselman claims to have given a great deal of thought to this problem before he signed the SGA petition. The question is, is he the rule, or the exception? Did everyone else out there think before they signed, or just sign to go along and not make waves? Or because, for the moment, they were scared of some unseen burglar? And if all of you did think first, what made you change your minds for the Reader poll, which found 74% of the students against the proposal?

It sounds as if we are dealing with another Silent Majority.

And where is the SGA, and in particular, Ray Martin, who conceived this whole idea? At the meeting at which this proposal was put forth, not one voice was raised in opposition to it. Why don't one or all of you SGA senators come to the defense of your own proposal? Do you still believe in it? Do you have the facts to back it up? Do you have a survey that can stand up to objective criticism?

It doesn't seem like it, or else we should have heard.

Not one of our charges has been responded to by the people responsible for the idea in the first place. Are guns necessary? Prove it. Is the student body really in favor of them? Prove it. Why weren't commuters, faculty and staff asked for their opinions? I guess they don't count. Why did you try to keep the story out of the Reader?

I think I know the answer to that one.

So that, before your opposition knew what you were doing, you'd be done.

"As a freshman, I remember wondering if ROTC would be a waste of time. I also thought I'd look pretty silly marching around on a field in an Army uniform.

"The fact is—ROTC is a challenge. A real challenge. It's been exciting and I've learned a lot. The best part is, when I graduate I know I've got a job—and it won't be in management training. It'll be in management."
